Two Navy Jets Lost Over Communist China

Part Of Strike At Hanoi

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Pentagon reported today two Navy jet attack planesare missing and believed downed in Communist China after inadvertently crossing the North Vietnam border to evade Communist aircraft and missiles.

A spokesman said there was no information on the crews. Each plane — both A6As from the carrier USS Constellation — carried two men.

The Pentagon said both planes were part of an air strike early today on the Duc Noi railroad yards seven miles northeast of Hanoi and about 75 miles from the Chinese border.

NO INVOLVEMENT

Shortly after the announcement, White House press secretary George Christian said: "We are confident Peking is aware that the United States is not seeking an involvement with Communist China."

Disclosure last week that the Johnson administration has authorized air strikes within 10 miles of the North Vietnam-China border erupted in controversy in Congress and brought charges the flights increased the risk of Chinese intervention.

Asked whether President Johnson had requested another look at the adequacy of U.S. precautions against incursions of Red Chinese air space, Christian replied he considered it obvious that despite all precautions, "there are going to be incidents like this one."

ADVERSE WEATHER

Christian said today's incident apparently resulted from adverse weather and MIG attacks.

"After encountering heavy antiaircraft fire in the target area and while under withdrawal route, the aircraft were attacked by MIGs and surface-to-air—SAM—missiles," the Pentagon said.

It added that both planes reported navigational difficulties, perhaps due to severe thunderstorms to the south.

2,000 Hippies Converge On Mount Tam For Sleep-In

Without warning, nearly 2,000 hippies converged on Mount Tamalpais last night and stage a "love-in, sleep-in" happening to beat all happenings.

Carrying sparklers, lighting candles and fires, the crowd almost sent the mountain up in fire and smoke, authorities said today.

Twenty Sheriff's deputies and park rangers rushed there to block off 500 hip-swinging, barefooted flower children planning a torch-light procession up the mountain.

Another 600 hippies broke into the Mountain Theater, lit candles and bonfires and used overturned trash cans as bongo drums, according to Undersheriff Sidney Stinson.

"These people are really something else. They were lucky not to set the mountain alight," he said today.

Park rangers had noticed a trickle of Haight-Ashbury residents arriving on the mountain during the day but the number got out of hand about 7 p.m.

Stinson called in about 15 deputies and when they arrived at the Mountain Home Inn parking lot they found the fires lit and the torches ready.

"They were going to walk up the nearby steep grade with their torches," he said. "We discouraged them."

A Rock Springs, 400 hippies were already bedding down for the night in sleeping bags and blankets. They were talking about an all-night rock concert and sunrise religious service.

Cars were parked at other lots and by the side of the mountain roads. "It was a real mess," said Stinson.

When the moon came up, deputies were still sending the hippies skuttling back down the mountain. Would-be participants in the sleep-in were stopped at a road block four miles from the summit.

Said Marin County Fire Chief Louis J. Bloom: "The mountain was a tinder box last night and a fire of any kind would have been disasterous if it spread.

"These people were lighting candles, fires, smoking in contravention of all the fire regulations and ordinances. No one had been given prior warning of what was to happen," he said.

State Park Ranger Jack Perry said no authority had been given to use park land after dark. "This thing seemed to spread from a wedding the hippies held earlier in the day in Steep Ravine. I was up until 2 a.m. today clearing the people off our property."

Hippies also trespassed on Marin Municipal Water District land — closed at dusk — and General Manager William R. Seeger was called out to supervise their removal.

How did the happening happen? Stinson said: "It seemed to be spontaneous but some of them arrived saying they heard about it on the radio. What station we don't know, but were checking into it."

Hanoi Reports Eight Scores On U.S. Jets

SAIGON (UPI)—Hanoi Radio said eight American planes were shot down today, five of them over the North Vietnamese capital in the fourth day of the United States stepped-up bombing offensive against the North.

Hanoi Radio said some of the pilots were captured and that "American planes bombed and strafed heavily populated areas in the suburbs" of Hanoi. It said anti-aircraft brought down five planes over Hanoi and that the others fell in other areas of North Vietnam.

(The Soviet news agency Tass in a dispatch from Hanoi said "Tens of U.S. planes today made fierce air raids on the capital of the DRV (North Vietnam), bombing the areas in the center of the city and its outskirts on the north and the south. There were civilian casualties.")

There were no U.S. reports of loses but military spokesmen in Saigon reported heavy strikes against the North yesterday and today. Near Hanoi a Red missile barely missed America's No. 1 flying ace, Col Robin Olds, and hit a Communist MIG fighter.

In the air war, U.S. Air Force giant B-52 Stratofortresses today dropped score of tons of bombs on units of an estimated 35,000 Communist invasion troops massed in the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ) on the North-South Vietnam border.

U.S. fighter bombers yesterday flew 179 missions against North Vietnam, following up Saturday's record 209 missions. For the first time in a week, the American planes hit the indus-

A DARING RESCUE

Four Wounded GIs Against 50 Cong

DA NANG, South Vietnam (AP) — It was four wounded GIs on the beach against 50 Viet Cong possibly bent on torture—until a plucky Marine helicopter crew came to reverse the odds.

The four American soldiers had been aboard a CH47 Chinook helicopter that touched down on the beach 65 miles south of Da Nang Saturday to evacuate wounded. They jumped out and took up positions to cover the evacuation.

The Chinook came under heavy guerrilla fire and the pilot gingerly lifted the craft to see if it would still fly. It did. But the fire began coming so heavily he decided to keep the craft in the air and fly out with 15 wounded aboard. The four GI defenders were left alone.

Answering a radio call for help Marine Capt. Steve Pless of Foley, Ala., reached the beach where the four stranded soldiers had all be wounded and corralled by about 50 Viet Cong. Pless said the guerrillas had cut the Americans with bayonets and struck one in the face with a rifle butt.

"They had all of the guys together," said Pless co-pilot, Capt. Rupert Fairfield of Lake Charles, La. "It looked like they wanted to mutilate them, strip them and leave them in a line for display."

Pless ordered his door gunner, Sgt. Leroy Pilson of Mason City, Iowa, to open fire on the Viet Cong. Then, Pless said, "I put my sight on the back pocket of the last man and walked my rockets through the middle of the crowd."

He put his chopper down on the beach. The Viet cong inched back firing their rifles and tossing grenades.

Polson jumped out and dragged one of the wounded soldiers to the helicopter. The fourth man in the helicopter crew, Lance Cpl. John Phelps of Louisville, Ky., helped Polson drag another man toward the chopper. The guerrillas came closer and Fairfield cut down three of them with his light machine gun. The rescuers managed to get a third wounded GI aboard but the fourth died on the beach.

Meanwhile, four U.S. Army gunships arrived overhead and began firing on the Viet Cong. After 20 minutes, Pless spotted a South Vietnamese helicopter arriving and decided to leave. He coaxed his overloaded chopper into the air, but not before its skids skipped four or five times on the sea. The Vietnamese helicopter picked up the body of the dead American from the beach. His throat had been cut.

On the way to the Marine base at Ay Ha, one of the rescued GIs died. Two survived. Pless and his crew got out without a scratch.

Only Minor Cuts In German Troops

BONN, Germany (AP)—Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger said today he told President Johnson there will be "no cuts worth mentioning" in the strength of West Germany's 461,000-man army.

"If there are to be cuts at all," Kiesinger told a news conference, "they will be made in full consultation with our allies."

Kiesinger said Johnson told him that reduction in the army would make it more difficult to deal with United States senators who are calling for substantial cuts in the strength of U.S. forces in Europe.

Kiesinger returned from the United States yesterday.

Hero's Medal For Sergeant In Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson awarded today the Medal of Honor for heroism in Vietnam to Marine Gunnery Sgt. Jimmie E. Howard and reiterated what he said is the administration's intent to keep the conflicted limited.

Howard, a native of Burlington Iowa, now living in San Diego, Calif., stood ramrod straight in true Marine fashion as the citation commending him for "extraordinary courage and resolute fighting spirit" was read in a White House ceremony.

FAMILY AT SIDE

After Johnson draped the blue ribbon holding the medal around his neck, Howard approached a batter of microphones with tears swelling in his eyes, pointed to the surviving members of the platoon he had led and said they too rated the medal.

Of the 18 men including Howard, who engaged a Viet Cong battalion of more than 300 men, 12 survived. Four platoon members were awarded the Navy Cross and the other 13 received the Silver Star for heroic action.

ENEMY TERRITORY

The platoon had occupied an observation post deep within enemy territory near Chu Lai when the Viet Cong attacked on June 16, 1966 with small arms, automatic weapons and mortar fire.

Although wounded by a grenade, he directed his platoon during the attack. The Marine unit killed 200 Viet Cong during a 12-hour assault.

Toronto Police Calm Hippies

TORONTO (AP) — Disorders broke out yesterday as police struggled through swirling crowds to arrest about 50 hippies involved in a demonstration in the heart of the coffee house and discotheque district.

Police said the 50, and six arrested earlier in the day, would appear in Magistrate's Court on charges of creating a disturbance.

About 3,000 persons were congregated in a block-long section of Yorkville Avenue at the height of the evening's unrest.

Price Hike Set By U.S. Steel

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — U.S. Steel Corp., the nation's top steelmaker, today followed the lead of second-ranked Bethlehem Steel Corp. and announced an increase of about three per cent in the price of its basic steel plate products.

The price of high-strength, floor plate and hot-rolled carbon was increased $4, while the price of higher-priced alloy plates and floor plates was hiked $8 a ton.

The increase, effective Friday, is the first increase on the products since October 1963.

The products account for about 10 per cent of industry shipments annually.

Rocket Plane Test With White Coat

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE (AP) — An X15 rocket plane streaked 3,409 miles an hour today in its first flight test of a white-painted ablative (heat-resistant) coating it will need when it tries to reach a record 4,500 m.p.h. later this year.

The X15 normally is painted black. The new coating is designed to dissipate air-friction heat by sloughing away in the 1,600-degree temperatures expected on the record flight.

Previous peak heat was 1,200 degrees at the current record speed of 4,250 m.p.h.

Air Force Maj. William Knight hit an altitude of 90,000 feet on the eight-minute, 140-mile flight, which began when the U.S. Space Agency craft was dropped from beneath the wing of a B52 bomber over the California-Nevada line.

Civil Service Payroll Drops

SACRAMENTO (AP) — California's civil service payroll dropped by 2,550 full-time employee at the Tuolumne Meathe Reagan administration, the governor's office announced today.

It said there were 102,461 civil service workers last December, but only 99,911 now as the economy campaign continued.

A Reagan spokesman noted that state government employment has been increasing steadily for the past few years, with a 5.6 per cent hike in the work force during 1966.

Percy Calls LBJ's Viet Policy Vague

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has pursued "a vague, open end limitless commitment" in Vietnam. Sen Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., said today.

He proposed that the President report annually to the Senate or full Congress on the scope and justification for each U.S. commitment to help defend overseas nations.

"Each commitment would be clarified and we would know its anticipated limits," Percy said.

He testified at a hearing of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, which has taken up the question whether Congress should have more of a voice in decisions to send U.S. troops to help other governments.

Under present procedures, Percy said, "we know that the administration is committed to defend South Vietnam, but we don't know whether the President conceives that there is a limit to the commitment."

Chairman J.W. Fulbright of the Foreign Relations Committee called the current hearings on a resolution, which he sponsored, to define a national commitment as one the President and Congress have joined in making.

Fulbright has held that the administration has been conducting foreign policy without sufficient attention to the views of Congress.

The President has cited the Tonkin Gulf Resolution of 1964 as authority for his decision to expand the Vietnam war. Fulbright and other critics have argued that Congress never anticipated conflict of the present scope.

With the 1964 resolution, Congress authorized the President to repel attack and prevent further aggression after U.S. destroyers were attacked off Vietnam.

WAR PRINCIPLES

Guard Directives For Riot Checking

WASHINGTON (AP) — New military training directives stress that National Guard units are to be taught new methods of dispersing mobs, ferreting out snipers, quickly apprehending looters and protecting important community institutions.

The directives also stress that the half-million guardsmen are to apply so-called basic principles of war if called upon to quell any future street riots.

WAR PRINCIPLES

The principles of war are generalized statements of basic strategy such as economy of force, maneuver, unity of command, surprise and simplicity.

The Army prepared the 16 lesson plans when the Pentagon, at White House direction following the Detroit and Newark riots, ordered a five-fold increase in the National Guard's riot control training.

Although unclassified, the National Guard Bureau wouldn't release the lesson plans, saying the Army forbade it. Official Army channels also refused to supply the plans but The Associated Press obtained a full set of the documents from other sources.

PLAN NO. 11

In Lesson Plan No. 11, under a section titled "Application of the Principles of War to Riot Control Operations," this statement appears:

"An examination of military literature has indicated that the principles of war are applicable to all types of military situations. These principles are also basic in the execution of riot control operations."

Guardsmen also are being told in the series of special lectures to give extra protection to certain community installations.

The lesson plans indicate future rioters can expect to be confronted with sophisticated military equipment.

Helicopters may hover over the riot zone, illuminating it with powerful floodlights. More tanks and machine gun-equipped patrol vehicles may cruise the streets. Greater use may be made of tear gas.

TO RESTORE ORDER

Maj. Gen. Francis S. Greenlief, deputy chief of the National Guard Bureau, said while some principles of war apply to riot control situations the main emphasis is on using only "the minimum force required to restore order."

This same point is emphasized repeatedly in the lesson plans. If it ever becomes necessary for guardsmen to open fire on rioters, one document says, "troops should aim low to disable rather than kill."

Most important, Greenlief added in an interview, is the "rapid response with adequate numbers of uniformed, disciplined, firm troops" when disorders break out.

Michigan's adjustant general, Maj. Gen. Clarence C. Schnipke, said his troops discovered in Detroit that training in mob control simply isn't enough. "This is not the problem," he said. "We didn't have to disperse one crowd in Detroit. This is in-city fighting, snipers."

NEW SCHEDULE

The new schedule, issued Aug. 10, calls for all guardsmen to receive at least 32 hours of riot control training in August and September. In addition, command personnel are to receive an extra 16 hours training.

A Pentagon survey a few weeks ago showed some states were giving only six hours of riot control instruction a year. And before this summer, only four hours of annual training was required although some units received more.

The new lesson plans stress seven major points. Guardsmen are told to prevent formation of crowds; disperse crowds and mobs rapidly; apprehend known or suspected mob leaders; maintain a neutral attitude; not harangue, threaten or bluff; use only necessary force, and always provide avenues of escape for mobs being dispersed.

The plans also detail specific techniques to be used.

FIRST STEP

First is a show of force—the arrival of troops on the scene. Listed next is deployment in riot control formations, then use of fire hoses and water cannons, then employment of "irritant nontoxic gases" like tear gas.

Then two more severe steps are listed: fire by selected marksmen or use of unit fire or full fire power.

Rap Brown Is Still Unable To Make Bail

NEW YORK (UPI)—H. Rap Brown, black power militant in federal detention on weapons charges, yesterday repeated his call to American Negroes to "arm yourselves . . . freedom is yet to come."

In a statement issued from his cell in the Federal House of Detention, Brown said his confinement will not "rebuild Detroit or save America from its due fate."

STILL IN JAIL

Brown, national chairman of the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee (SNCC), was arrested early Saturday on charges of carrying a .30 caliber carbine from New York to New Orleans and back while under indictment on charges of inciting a riot in Maryland. Federal law forbids anyone under indictment to carry a weapon across state lines.

The Negro leader is being held in lieu of $25,000 bail. William M. Kunstler, Brown's attorney, told newsmen yesterday that SNCC has been unable to meet the bail, although the organization has raised about $20,000 in cash, bonds and bankbooks.

BONDSMEN HIDE

Kunstler said four bondsmen had refused to put up the money for Brown. He quoted a fifth as saying he would do so only if SNCC provided 100 per cent security for the bond.

Brown's detention prevented him from appearing at rallies in Cincinnati Saturday and Baton Rouge yesterday.

Kunstler, who conferred with Brown for 90 minutes yesterday, read the SNCC leader's statement to newsmen. The statement charged that Brown is a "political prisoner."

"If it takes imprisonment or even death to expose America for what it is, then this is my destiny . . ." Brown said. "To all black brothers and sisters across America who are caught behind enemy lines: I say the fight has not yet matured. Arm yourselves, for freedom is yet to come."

Brown signed his statement, "yours in rebellion."

Kunstler said Floyd McKissick, national director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE), had joined him as an attorney working for Brown's release.

Home Peace First, Civil Righter Says

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — The head of the National Urban League placed top priority on peace at home yesterday, and said he is "no longer sure" the nation can have both that and fight a war in Vietnam.

Executive Director Whitney M. Young Jr. told an applauding audience of 1,200 that congressional cutting of programs dealing with Negro slum problems has led him to question his previous public position—that we could fight both slums at home and a war abroad.

"If it is time we have to make a choice, the Urban League feels the first priority ought to be peace and justice here at home," he said, drawing the first roar of applause from an integrated audience that had sat quietly through most of his 40-minute speech.

In his departure, he also suggested a national conference of business, industry and civic leaders to mobilize support for a program like a four-year domestic Marshall plan that would guarantee jobs through public works.

Most of the 1,200 were delegates to the league's annual conference.

Young's previous position, which he questioned yesterday, was taken last March in response to Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who announced he was stepping up his campaign against the Vietnam war, partly on the theory that the war drained resources needed for work in city slums.

Young told The Associated Press afterward there was no guarantee that Congress would spend more money on the war against slums if it were available. But he said the Vietnam war was the major reason Congress gave when it shelved a variety of programs.

Senators Views On Marshall Revealed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Thurgood Marshall was described today as "perfectly prepared" to be a Supreme Court justice—and also as "a constitutional iconoclast" whose appointment is a disservice to the country.

The conflicting views are stated in majority and minority reports of the Senate Judiciary Committee, which voted 11 to 5 to recommend confirmation of Marshall's nomination. The five voting against him are Southerners. The first Negro ever nominated for the court, Marshall is the U.S. solicitor general and a former judge on the U.S. Court of Appeals in New York.

The committee vote was announced Aug. 3 but contents of the reports became known today.

President Johnson submitted his nomination June 13. No date has been set for the Senate's confirmation vote.

The majority report said Marshall's long, close association with the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People did not disqualify him but rather redounds to his and the nation's benefit.

The minority report said the Supreme Court has become dominated by "judicial activists who amend the Constitution while professing to interpret it" and declared Marshall's confirmation would add to their number.

"Judge Marshall is by practice and philosophy a constitutional iconoclast," the minority said, and his elevation to the court would make it "virtually certain that for years to come, if not forever, the American people will be ruled by the arbitrary notions of Supreme Court justices rather than by the precepts of the Constitution."

Britain Ignores China Demand On Newspapers

HONG KONG (AP) — British officials said today they will ignore Red China's ultimatum that they allow three pro-Communist Hong Kong newspapers to resume publication and free the papers' arrested employees by tomorrow night.

The British Foreign Office said in London that its representative in Peking had rejected China's demands—as he has other similar notes—for offensive language. Officials pointed out that Red China has issued 438 "serious warnings" to the United States charging infringement of air space but never has acted.

NO BIG PUSH

British policy makers believe that because of its internal upheavals, China is not planning any big push to force the British out of Hong Kong. The threats are believed intended to boost the moral of Hong Kong's local Communist agitators.

Hong Kong newspapers and local residents showed little or no concern with the Chinese ultimatum. Newspapers printed reports of it on inside pages, and 17 of more than 30 British and Chinese residents questioned about the Chinese note had not heard about it.

TWO KILLED

The pressure from Peking came as the local Communist, anti-British terror campaign killed an 8-year-old Chinese girl and her 2-year-old brother yesterday. The girl was playing with a bomb she found in an alley known as "the children's playground."

Colonial authorities offered a $4,500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the terrorists who planted the bomb. Police found 11 more bombs planted throughout the colony today, two of them at a playground.

A New Elm That Will Fight Bugs

WASHINGTON (SS) — American elm trees, facing almost certain extinction from the rapidly spreading Dutch Elm disease, are being given a second chance for survival.

For the first time since the disease was found in this country in 1930, scientists believe they can produce a hybrid elm tree that will be both beautiful and resistant to the killer disease.

elms, Department of Agriculture plant scientists have succeeded in producing what they hope will be good "mates" for the American elm.

All previous attempts to cross American elms with their disease-resistant cousins have failed because American elms have twice the usual number of chromosomes in their cells. Chromosomes are assemblages of genes, the microscope blueprints for life present in all living cells.

In order to make the Siberian elms compatible with American elms, the USDA's Agricultural Research Service scientists had to double the numbers of chromosomes in the Siberian elms' cells.

They recently shipped a dozen such modified Siberian elms from their Beltsville, Md., Plant Industry Station to the ARS's Deleware, Ohio, experiment station. There, the Siberian seedlings will be tenderly cared for as they grow to maturity.

It will take a minimum of five years, says Dr. August E. Kehr, chief of the vegetable and ornamentals research branch at Beltsville, before the elms will flower. Only then can they be crossed with American elms.

When the big day arrives, he admits, the plant scientists are still not certain what sort of hybrid elm will result. It could just as well be ugly and diseased as beautiful and immune. Some of the trees, however, should show both the gracefulness of the American tree and the disease resistance of the Siberian elm.

If the experiment is successful, it will be due to the effects of a drug called colchicine, which is also used in treatment of gout.

Colchicine, when applied to growing cells, allows them to grow to the point of doubling the numbers of chromosomes within them, but stops them from dividing into two cells. The cells are thus left with double the usual number of chromosomes.

If special care is taken of seedlings treated with colchicine, entire plants can be grown with doubled chromosomes. These, Dr. Kehr says, will produce seeds that, in turn, will grow into plants with double the usual chromosome count.

The treatment of the Siberian elms was done by Dr. Haig Dermen and Dr. Curtis May at the Beltsville laboratory.

Dr. Dermen had previously successfully applied the same technique to cranberries, producing a disease-resistant variety that could be grown commercially.

Army Reservists In New Location

The headquarters of San Rafael's Army reservists has been moved to 27 Hordan Street after a year of planning.

The new office is twice the size of the old one at 46 Louise Street and will house up to 150 men, according to a spokesman for Reserve Company G of the 362nd Regiment.

Reagan Signs Control On Heavy Firearms

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Tougher state controls on machineguns, concealable weapons and heavy firearms such as bazookas have been signed into law by Gov. Reagan, his office announced today.

The measures were part of a gun control package backed by Atty. Gen. Thomas C. Lynch. They were authored by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside.

One bill revises the definition of machineguns, and makes it easier for law authorities to seize illegal machineguns.

Another requires anyone other than a licensed dealer who orders by mail a firearm that can be concealed on his person to file a record of the order with law officers.

The third measure seeks to crack down on the sale, possession and transportation of destructive devices. These include bombs, grenades, bazookas and cannon shells. Also barred as illegal is the anti-tank cannon which is becoming easily available through military surplus stores.

Other bills signed:

Deposits—Raises from 200 per cent to 400 per cent the maximum amount of bank deposits of public funds exceeding a bank's entire capital and surplus; SB 1469, Harmer, R-Glendale.

Vehicle—Raises from 35 to 40 feet the maximum length allowed for a single vehicle; AB 1301, Foran, D-San Francisco.

Parts—Prohibits anyone from buying, selling or possessing any vehicle part from which serial or identification number has been removed or altered for illegal purposes; AB 1480, Lanterman, R-La Canada.

Beer — Bars minors from premises where beer only is sold, except for places that sell food, or at public events such as fairs; AB 1745, H. Johnson, D-El Monte.

Pharmacy — Requires Board of Pharmacy to move from San Francisco to Sacramento by 1971; AB 1783, Stacey, R-Bakersfield.

Glue — Makes illegal certain acts done under influence of toluene or other poisons, makes it a felony to injure someone while driving under influence of toluene, a substance found in glue, and makes intoxication by glue sniffing subject to same penalties as alcohol intoxication; AB 2430, Wilson, R-San Diego.

Boards — Bars county supervisors from reapportioning districts of the board within 90 days prior to final date of voter registration; AB 2241, Bagley, R-San Rafael.

Scientists Fear Virus In Beards

By SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — W. C. Fields once made a one-reeler called "The Barber," in which a customer's huge beard was found to be housing several unusual forms of life.

Now the U. S. Army's biological warfare researchers at Fort Detrick, Md., are so worried about a similar problem that they've held a conference on the subject of beard hazards. They feared that bearded microbiologists might be harboring bacteria — if not military secrets — in their face hair.

Bearded volunteers permitted their beavers to be sprayed with harmless test organisms and then sampled for contamination.

An actual beard was then mounted on a mannikin and dosed with chicken NDV virus, after which young chicks were alternately nestled in the beard and stroked on it. Four days later the chicks were sacrificed and examined for infection.

Similar studies were done with Type A Clostridium botulinum toxin and guinea pigs.

The investigators declared that bearded men pose a greater risk of infection than clean-shaven ones, but they were likely to spread infection only if contaminated in an accident or exposed to a persistent contagious spray.

The beard sleuths added that persons bearded or otherwise, working with microorganisms, should wash their faces before going home.

The problem, evidently, is widespread, since it was a general proliferation of beards among microbiological workers that sparked the research project.

Dietrick itself has long had a policy to discourage beards among its own microbiologists.

In South Vietnam, U.S. troops reported killing scores of Communits.

U.S. Army 4th Infantry Division troops reported the largest "kill" on the coast 320 miles northeast of Saigon. Sweeping a jungle they caught and killed 53 Communists while suffering only two wounded.

In other developments:

Guided by a defector, U.S. Army 25th Infantry Division troops caught and killed nine Communists on the Oriental River banks 20 miles northwest of Saigon, spokesmen said.

The U.S. Navy cruiser USS Boston reported destroying six cargo sampans and damaging 30 plus setting off a huge secondary explosion on the North Vietnamese coast with its gunfire.

On the political scene, U.S. authorities told American servicemen in Saigon today to watch their steps at night because of the Viet Cong terror campaign aimed at disrupting South Vietnam's Sept. 3 presidential election.

A U.S. mission spokesman said American officials also are considering an order restricting U.S. personnel to their living or working areas for the election weekend, to avoid terror incidents and to demonstrate that the United States is keeping hands off the election.

Bees Can Be Bred To Like Certain Foods

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (SS) —Honeybees can be bred to have an inherited preference for alfalfa, which is grown around the world primarily for hay and silage.

The agricultural value of honeybees in the United States, in addition to honey and beeswax, is estimated to average just slightly less than $100 per bee. There are about 5 million colonies in the U.S. alone.

The pollen preferences of honeybees are vital because they handle more than 80 per cent of all the pollination done by insects. However, two of the problems beekeepers face are that honeybees will fly for food only as far as is necessary and will choose white clover over alfalfa because the former's pollen is easier to reach.

It was, therefore, good news to the 2,000 agriculturists attending the recent International Agricultural Congress at the University of Maryland that honeybees can be specifically bred to pollinate a particular crop.

Dr. Otto Mackenson of the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Apiculture Research Branch, Baton Rouge, La., reported success in breeding honeybees with a preference for alfalfa over other pollen sources. The preference is dependent on many genes and can be inherited, essential because worker bees live only four to eight weeks after honey gathering begins.

Dr. Mackinson carried out his breeding of honeybees for high and low preference for alfalfa pollen through five generations. In the fourth generation, bees of the high line collected 66 per cent pollen while those of the low line collected only eight per cent.

In the fifth generation, at a location with limited pollen sources other than alfalfa, the high line collected 99 per cent alfalfa, compared with 53 per cent for the low line. At a location with more pollen sources, the corresponding percentages were 54 per cent and 2 per cent.

Dr. Mackensen reported that he is now investigating the possibilities of breeding bees with a preference for pollens of other plants.

Dr. Gordon F. Tonwsend, vice president of the organizing board for the Congress, said the discovery meant that bees could be "tailor-made to do the job you want them to do." Pear blossoms, for instance, have a musty odor and bees will not normally pollinate them when other pollens are available.

On the less encouraging side were reports of the threat of chemicals used as pesticides, defoliants, fertilizers, fungicides and growth regulators have to bee colonies.

Drs. E. L. Atkins Jr. and L. D. Anderson of the University of California's department of entomology, Riverside, have studied the toxicity of such chemicals to honeybees, evaluating nearly 50 different compounds both in the laboratory and in the field. As many as 52,000 colonies a year are decimated in California from chemicals.

They recommended covering colonies with burlap or dark plastic material for one or two hours during and after treatment in the early morning to give protection, especially when pesticides are applied by airplane. They also found that, with few exceptions, pesticides applied as dusts are more hazardous to honeybees than those applied as sprays, and that fine sprays are less toxic than coarse sprays.

Fungus Hits Fruit Fly In Florida

MIAMI (SS) — Discovery of a killing fungus that attacks the destructive fruit fly, which has already invaded 25 southern Florida counties causing millions of dollars worth of damage, has been revealed by the University of Florida's subtropical experiment station near here.

The dramatic new find was made by Dr. Richard Baranowski, university entomologist attached to the station, and has been confirmed by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's entomology research division of insect pathology, Beltsville, Md., where samples were sent for checking.

The Caribbean fruit fly attacks a wide variety of fruit and some vegetables, but up to now has not been considered as dangerous as the Mediterranean fruit fly, one of whose prime hosts is commercially valuable citrus.

Two infestations of the latter in the Miami area have been wiped out within the past few years.

The lethal fungus has been identified as "entomophthera," which literally means "insect eater." Dr. Robert Conover, plant pathologist and head of the university experimental station, said the fungus appears like a fuzzy growth on the flies. It's apparently native to Florida.

The main problem now, Dr. Conover said, is to determine whether the fungus kills the Carib flies at the proper stage — before they mature and bore holes in fruit or vegetables to lay eggs, which hatch into worms. The USDA is expected to back a quick research program to find the answer.

"If the fungus does the job as we hope," Dr. Conover explained, "then possible spores could be developed and introduced over a wide area to combat the flies. But it's premature to speculate about anything. We still have much to find out."

It was only within the past several weeks that enormous expansion of the Caribbean flies was discovered. Estimates were made that in big Dade County, site of Miami International Airport where they apparently entered the country several years ago, about $9 million annual damage is being caused. Damage throughout the 25 fly-infested counties has been estimated as approaching possibly $50 million annually.

Housefly Man's Greatest Enemy

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Of all the insects in the world, the common housefly is probably man's greatest enemy, says the California Medical Association (CMA).

The fly may spread dysentery, summer or infant diarrhea, typhoid fever, tuberculosis, trachoma and polio — merely by touching you or your food with his six bristled feet which transmit germs.

To reduce the presence of flies, the CMA suggests that you: fit window and door frames tightly; drain and wrap garbage; wipe up spilled foods immediately; and keep bathrooms spotless.

Planners Reset Rezone Hearing

The proposed rezoning of land on Olive Avenue for a large mobile home park was postponed again this morning by the Marin County Planning Commission at the request of San Rafael developer Paul Sade.

Sade asked for indefinite postponement, but planning commissioners set a definite date for the next hearing for Oct. 23.

Commissioner Margaret Azevedo said she wanted to see a set date so that people who want to follow the hearing will not be forced to attend each meeting for fear that the matter would come up unexpectedly.

Suspect In Mass Slayings Seized

NORTH BATTLEFORD, Sask. (AP) — A 21-year-old mental patient is being held for the murder of nine members of a farm family who were shot in their home on the edge of Canada's northern wilderness.

The Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrested Victor Ernest Hoffman Saturday night, four days after the massacre of Mr. and Mrs. James Peterson and seven of their children at their home in Shell Lake. The Petersons' 4-year-old daughter hid between the bodies of two other sisters and escaped.

The police said Hoffman would be arraigned on a murder charge and then probably would be given a mental examination.

The young man's mother, Mrs. Robert Hoffman, said in an interview that her son was released July 23 from a mental institution in North Battleford. She said he was still under treatment and was to have been readmitted to the institution.

He is one of seven children and had worked on his father's farm 60 miles southeast of Shell Lake after quitting school in 1961.

Inspector Brian Sawyer said no motive had been established for the slaying. He said Hoffman was picked up without a struggle at home and had behaved normally since his arrest.

Jordanians Begin Slow Treks Home

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The return of Arab war refugees to their homes in Israeli-occupied Jordan lagged for the second day yesterday, while in the Sinai Desert, Israeli troops scoured El Arish for Arab arms and organizers of a general strike.

In Baghdad, the Arab economic warfare conclave ended with indications of a continuing split on whether to continue the embargo on Arab oil exports to Britain, West Germany and the United States.

The International Red Cross reported that 1,876 Jordanian war refugees crossed the Jordan River yesterday to go back to their homes. Added to the 355 that crashed, East Germany and the United States.

The International Red Cross reported that 1,866 Joradanian war refugees crossed the Jordan River yesterday to go back to their homes. Added to the 355 that crossed the Allenby Bridge and another bridge at the Um Al SHort Friday, 2,231 of about 170,000 refugees were repatriated in the first two days.

The Israelis appeared to be rejecting few refugees yesterday in contrast with Friday when mostly women, children and old men were accepted and young men appeared to be regarded as security risks.

In the Sinai, a successful general strike closed very bar and business in El Arish, scene of bitter fighting between the Israelis and the Egyptians in the June 5 - 10 war. The strike was called to protest Israeli restrictions which the Arabs claim have resulted in total unemployment.

The final recommendations of the economic and oil ministers from 13 Arab states who met in Baghdad were not revealed.

Rec Contract Is On School Board's Agenda

The contract would continue in 1967-68 the joint playground and recreation program of the two agencies for another year with the elementary and high school districts putting up $21,524.

The board will also consider appointment of six teachers in the high school district and three new teachers in the elementary district.

Other items on the agenda include adoption of curricula and textbooks for the high schools and of a school health manual.

22 Die In Union Feast Gun Battle

ACAPULCO, Mexico (AP) — A blazing gun battle between two rival factions at the 25th anniversary banquet of a copra growers union yesterday left 22 persons dead an an estimated 100 wounded in this Pacific Coast resort.

Police and soldiers rounded up 184 persons for questioning. Those involved are men who grow and harvest corpa - dried coconut meat - either on their own or by hiring workers.

BANQUET SCENE

Claudio Monreal, Acapulco police watch commander, said one group of about 600 men was holding the banquet at the two-story building of the regional copra growers union. Another group of about 1,000 dissatisfied with a recent union election, gathered outside.

Cesar del Angele, a representative in the state government of Veracruz, was a leader of the uninvited contingent, said Mario Jaime Palacios, an agent of the Acapulco attorney general's office.

Del Angele was first reported killed in the shooting, then wounded, then fleeing to the hills with police and soldiers on his trail.

SHOTS FIRED

One witness reported that Del Angele entered the building during the celebration to negotiate for more representation for his faction in the union. He then left the building and a few minutes later reportedly ordered the door kicked down.

At that point shots were fired from the crowd outside, and persons inside the building returned the fire, some with machine guns.

When police and soldiers arrived, many of the dead and wounded were lying in the street. An eyewitness said order was restored quickly.

Within an hour the area, a slum district on the road to Acapulco's Piedea Cuesta Beach, had taken on a bizarre holiday air. Thousands milled around and tourists roamed the streets snapping pictures.

Baton Rouge Rioting Is Quickly Controlled

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP) — Roving Negro youths threw firebombs at buildings in a low-rent, Negro neighborhood early today after rallies yesterday by the Ku Klux Klan and by 600 Negroes who gathered on the Capitol steps.

The Negro rally climaxed a 106-mile civil rights march which brought out this state's greatest display of force for racial troubles.

LOW-RENT AREA

Fires broke out before midnight in the Eden Park neighborhood of low-rent Negro housing. None were major and all were soon brought under control.

State troopers and city police cordoned off the area for about one hour, stopping cars and searching the occupants. Ten Negroes and one white man were arrested.

Most of the firebombs fizzled.

Fire fighting teams quickly snuffed the eight fires which did break out. They answered nine false alarms.

Mayor W. W. Dumas issued a plea that the 1,500 National Guardsmen who shielded the Klan and Negro gatherings be ordered back into the city. The guard, mobilized by Gov. John McKeithen, had been released when it appeared the danger of conflict was over.

"It's exactly the same pattern they had in Detroit," said Dumas.

"I don't care what anybody says, I think it was a planned deal.

"I am amazed the Guardsmen left. I think it was all right to pull some out, but I don't think it was wise to send them all home."

QUICK ACTION

The mayor said, however, that city police were less than three minutes behind every incident reported.

One white man was arrested and handcuffed. Officers said they found an M-16 semiautomatic rifle, several pistols and eight or nine boxes of ammunition in his car.

Of the 10 Negroes arrested none identified — seven were booked with vagrancy, one with obscenity and disobeying police, one with carrying a concealed weapon and the other with disorderly conduct.

At least four break-ins were reported to police, but there were no signs of looting.

Earlier, two reporters for the Baton Rouge Advocate said Negroes threw firebombs at their car and at two other autos on an expressway south of the city.

KLAN RALLY

Earlier, police used billy clubs and rifle butts to disperse a group of Negroes who jeered whites just before the start of the Klan rally. A few Negroes were knocked to the ground.

The Negro rally came off dispite the absence of scheduled speaker H. Rap Brown. (See story page 2). The Black Power advocate was jailed Saturday in New York on a charge of violating a federal firearms law.

The governor had told State Police Supt. Thomas Burbank: "If anyone makes any treasonous or seditous statements, arrest them on the spot, handcuff them and take them to jail."

McKeithen also issued orders to shoot quickly if a riot started.

Replacing Brown on the speakers stand was Lincoln Lynch, associate national director of the Congress of Racial Equality, who told the rally, "McKeithen is willing to shoot us. When you go, take somebody with you."

The Negro rally marked the end of an 11-day civil rights march from Bogalusa to Baton Rouge. The marchers on two occasions were attacked by angry whites. The Bogalusa Negroes said the purpose of the march was to present a list of grievances to the governor.

Guilty Plea To Car Theft

Danny Lee Zimmerman, 18, scheduled for jury trial tomorrow, instead pleaded guilty today in Marin Superior Court to auto theft. Judge Harold J. Haley continued setting of sentencing for 9:30 a.m. next Monday.

Zimmerman, alias Daniel Ray Farris, of San Francisco, stole the car of Bronte H. Reynolds of 555 Canal Street, San Rafael, on April 4. He still faces jury trial next week on a charge of burgling the apartment of Arnold B. Hunter at 260 Canal Street on April 3.

Session Off

The scheduled meeting yesterday of Manor Hill Homeowners Association directors to elect ne wofficers was postponed indefinitely, reported secretary-treasurer Priscilla Gray.

Doctor's Home Is Burglarized

Thieves swooped on the home of Dr. Charles K. Dahlgren at 116 Coleman Drive, San Rafael, yesterday and carried off property worth more than $5,500, police reported today.

Missing along with clothes, cameras, jewelry and toys was the doctor's medical bag containing equipment including a stethescope and blood-pressure gauge.

The family was away for the weekend and arrived home 12:30 p.m. yesterday to find the home ransacked, said police.

Left at home was the pet dog whose barking awoke neighbors at 5:45 a.m. yesterday. No one heard the vehicle used to carry off the stolen property, said police.

Car Radio Stolen

A car radio was stolen Saturday night from the car of Robert J. Scott of 500 Ralston Avenue, Mill Valley police reported today.

Robber Gives In After Gun Terror

SOUTH SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— A supermarket robber took $350 last night and grabbed a 13-year-old girl by the hand and started pulling her out.

He bumped into a door and his .38 calibre pistol went off, the bullet smashing a window.

Then he pulled the girl a mile and a half down residential streets, alternately waving the gun at pursuing police and holding it at her head. Behind the police, the procession was brought up by a crowd of 300.

Twenty minutes after the robbery, the man and girl sat down on a hill. Officer James La Chance talked to the kidnaper, "Trying to win his confidence."

La Chance put down his gun and stepped forward. The man was momentarily distracted, and two officers jumped him and subdued him, although the pistol went off again, narrowly missing the officers.

Arrested was Andrew P. Alforque, 19. The girl was described by an officer as "quite cool and collected, and as "one of the bravest girls I've seen."

Collision In Desert Claims Seventh Life

PEARLBLOSSOM (AP) — A headon collision near this desert community claimed its seventh life today.

A mother and her five children were killed last night in the crash on California 138 and the driver of the second car died in a hospital today.

He was Harvey A. Griep, 36, of nearby Littlerock.

Griep's car was westbound when it and the eastbound car of Larry Langston, 26, of Pomona, collided on a curve.

The wreckage was strewn over hundreds of feet of the two-lane desert road.

Langston's wife, Phyllis, 31, and her five children by a previous marriage were dead on arrival at Palmdale Memorial Hospital in Palmdale.

The children, whose last name was Thomas, were identified as Dawn, 11; Michael, 13; David, 12; Paul, 8, and Patrick, 6.

Langston was in critical condition today at the hospital. Griep was transferred to Los Angeles County General Hospital with major injuries.

Officers said it appeared Griep's car had drifted across the double line, but that their investigation was continuing.

Harry Golden Quits SNCC–'Anti-Semitism'

CHARLOTTE (AP) — Author-editor Harry Golden has resigned from the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee, charging the organization with anti-Semitism and "a mockery of nonviolence."

Golden, in a letter to Rolfe Featherstone of Atlanta, SNNC director, announced his resignation and withdrawal of support, and wrote:

"Your recent news-letter, which follows the pro-Arab, pro-Soviet and racist lines with heavy overtones of anti-Semitism, was a disgrace. You have thus joined the American Nazi party and the Ku Klux Klan.

"Criticizing American Jews as well as Israelis, your news-letter links the Negro cause with that of the Arabs."

"Negroes have been the victims of racism for too long to indulge in group stereotype and racial hate themselves."

"I also charge that your organization has made a mockery of nonviolence and you have one the Negro struggle for equality in America a grave injustice," Golden added.

Golden, author of the best sellers "Only in America" and "For 2 Cents Plain," is the editor of the Carolina Israelite, a weekly journal of his anecdotes and opinions.

For many years he had been one of the chief spokesmen for Negro civil rights in the South.

There are 800 distinct languages spoken in Africa. Nigeria alone has 248.

Poll Has Romney Leading Johnson

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) —The latest Gallup Poll has Gov. George Romney of Michigan leading President Johnson in a trial heat for the presidency.

The American Institute of Public Opinion here reported today that the poll, the first one conducted since the aftermath of the recent race riots, shows Romney leading the President by 8 percentage points — 49 per cent for Romney, to 41 per cent for Johnson, with 10 per cent undecided.

"Survey evidence indicates that the sharp shift in the trial heat standings is due more to the President's sagging popularity than to any particular surge in popular support for Romney," the institute said.

In a survey taken in mid-June, Romney trailed the President by 5 points.

The institute said that the proportion of the public who approve of the way the President is handling his job has declined 13 percentage points since the mid-June survey — from 39 per cent to 39 per cent. This is the President's lowest rating to date and the lowest for a President since 1952, the institute said.

No Specific Charges In Minnesota Deaths

ST. CLOUD, Minn. (AP) — David Hoskins, 30, held in the deaths of his wife and four children in a farmhouse fire, may be released from a hospital today or tomorrow.

Stearns County Atty. Paul J. Doernor said he had not decided on what specific charges would be filed against Hoskins, a former Minnesota National Guard helicopter pilot.

Meanwhile, autopsies on the bodies of Hoskins' wife, Loretta, 29, and their four children were ordered.

The bodies were recovered Friday from the burned-out rubble of the Hoskins farmhouse some 17 miles southeast of St. Cloud.

Hoskins, described by friends as happily married and a man who never displayed a temper, was found bleeding and tied to clothesline pole near his burning home early Friday.

He told Sheriff Peter Lahr that four or five men seized him outside his home, shot him and tied him up before setting fire to the house.

Saturday, Lahr told newsmen Hoskins had admitted shooting his wife, then turning a .22-caliber rifle on himself before setting fire to the farm house and a barn before tying himself to the clothes line pole.

No motive for the deaths has been released by either the sheriff or county attorney.

Mrs. Eldon Capes, Hoskins' sister, said her brother "never was in any trouble."

Sister Locks Another Out, Causing Panic

Novato firemen received a call from John Orfanos of 1137 Mirabella Avenue at 8:55 p.m. Saturday, reporting a roof fire at his neighbor's and, though firemen found no fire, they heard a strange story.

Firemen said Wanda Boyd, 12, and her sister, Bobbi, 8, were at home alone at 1132 Mirabella Avenue when Bobbi locked her sister out of the house.

Wanda tried to get in and, when she was not admitted, got two neighbor boys to help her. The boys pulled the main power switch shutting off the inside lights in hopes they would frighten Bobbi out.

This didn't work. So the children tried hollering down the chimney to coax Bobbi to open the door. Bobbi, firemen reported, lit a fire in the fireplace and the children became excited and poured some water down the chimney to quench it.

At this time Orfanos came outside and noticed the smoke and reported a roof fire. Police said today they would talk to Mrs. Victoria Boyd, the girls' mother, who was away at the time.

Paint Footprints Lead To Vandal

A Sausalito boy has been cited to juvenile court for vandalism for smearing two cars with white paint last weekend, Sausalito police said today.

The damaged cars belonged to James L. Sharp Jr. and Claude Roth, residents of 404 Napa Street. Sharp said a trail of paint footprints led from the cars and down the street. Police said only that "evidence on the scene" led to the boy's arrest.

New Sex Guide Is Issued For Jewish Teeners

NEW YORK (AP) — A newly published guide for Orthodox Jewish teen-agers and youth leaders stresses that the Torah "by no means opposes sex but rather the cult of sex, the false worship of it, its abuse and misuse by immature and irresponsible people."

The 28-page mimeographed guide, written in English, is based on the teachings of the Torah, which comprises the first five books of Moses, and on rabbinic literature. It is designed principally for use in informal discussion groups.

The guide, dealing with sexual ethics and morality, has been published by the Union of Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America. The publication was announced yesterday by Rabbi Joseph Karasick, president of the union.

He said nearly all Jewish material on the subject of personal ethics and morality had been available only in Hebrew, for use primarily in classrooms.

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

A Good Player Will Never Applaud Brilliant Defense

If you want to be considered a good sport, join in the applause when an opponent makes a brilliant play.

But if you want to be considered a good player, give the hand a second thought when you get off by yourself.

TAKE OPENER

Declarer won the first heart and led a trump, planning a finesse with the nine as a safety play if East played the eight. When East put up the queen of spades, South won with the king.

Declarer next led the deuce of clubs, and West brilliantly put in the queen, preventing South from taking a finesse with the ten of clubs. Declarer won in dummy with the ace of clubs and led a trump.

East put up the ten, and South won with the ace.

CASHES CLUB

South cashed the king of clubs, entered dummy with a diamond and ruffed a club. He got back to dummy with a diamond to ruff a heart and led his last diamond to dummy. With only trumps left South had to run the next trick and lead from the 9-7 of trumps to East's 5-3. Down one.

CONGRATULATIONS

Everybody congratulated West for his play of the queen of clubs. With a club finesse South could have reached dummy once more and thus could have led from dummy at the 12th trick. This would have limited East to one trump trick.

South threw the slam away by leading the second trump too soon. On reaching dummy with the ace of clubs South should ruff a heart.

SLAM PLAY

Next come the king of clubs, a diamond, a club ruff, another diamond and a heart ruff. Then the last diamond and at last South can lead the second trump from dummy.

East puts in the ten of spades, and South plays low. Now East is forced to lead a trump, and South wins the last two tricks with the A-9 of trumps. This brings the slam home.

You have 10 points in high cards, 1 point for the doubleton and 2 points for the singleton, enough for a borderline opening bid. You decide in favor of the very long major suit and the good high-card structure.

Hard-Luck Schooner Refloated At Beach

That hard-luck homemade schooner, beached for a week at Fort Cronkhite, is now anchored off Sausalito after a contingent of volunteers teamed up Saturday to refloat it.

Armed with shovels and an eight-inch towing line, 60 military and civilian rescuers fought sand and heavy surf for four and a half hours before the Coast Guard could tow Henry Peterson and his 50-foot converted lifeboat back under Golden Gate.

The boat washed up last Sunday after light winds, a strong current and a dead engine ganged up on the would-be yachtsman from Alameda, leaving him high and dry on Rodeo Beach.

Throughout last week, Peterson had been forced to stay by his vessel constantly, as vandals repeatedly tried to steal anything they could get their hands on. Despite his efforts, his 10-foot aluminum life boat and several other small articles were lost.

After three unsuccessful attempts to refloat the hulk last week, the rescue party, organized by Eric J. Schmidt of Tiburon, assembled on the beach at 9 a.m. to "free the thing once and for all."

"It was a regular party," Schmidt said. Ghilotti Brothers, San Rafael contractors, donated 50 shovels; Pacific Far East Lines in San Francisco supplied 1,000 feet of towing rope; forty soldiers and 20 civilians—including four hippies—came to dig and the Coast Guard supplied a utility boat, Schmidt explained.

By noon, he said, the group had succeeded in digging a basin around the stranded vessel, but ran into trouble when they attempted to take the rope out to the utility boat, 700 feet off shore.

One man swam the rope out all right, Schmidt said, but after struggling with it against the rough surf, it was so entangled in kelp that it couldn't be pulled tight.

Schmidt said the Coast Guard saved the day when they used their line-throwing gun to shoot a rope into shore, missing by only a few yards.

After the rope was secured to the bow of the stranded vessel, the men pushed as the utility boat pulled her down rollers and back into the water, with Peterson and a friend aboard.

Peterson, who was unavailable for comment today, was last seen as he and his hard-luck hulk were towed under the Golden Gate Bridge towards Sausalito, Schmidt said.

No Session

The San Rafael Planning Commission will not meet tomorrow for lack of a quorum. The meeting has been rescheduled for Aug. 29 at 7:30 p.m. at city hall, the planning department has announced.

Mill Valley Council Plans Review On Chambers Use

The Mill Valley City Council tonight will review its policy on use of the council chambers by outside groups. The review stems from questions raised after the chamber was used Aug. 2 for a meeting by Vietnam Summer-Marin.

The council meetsat 8 p.m. at the chamber.

The council meets at 8 p.m. at to set its 1967-68 tax rate. When the $1.8 million city budget was adopted last month City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer said the present tax rate of $2.315 per $100 assessed valuation would probably not be increased.

Three ordinances will be before the council for final adoption. They will set uniform parking meter fees of 5 cents an hour, revise taxicab license fees and rezone the area of Parkwood, Laurelwood and Presidio avenues and Forrest, Hill and Grove streets to allow 2,500-square-foot lots.

Also on the agenda is a resolution of intent for Alto Corridor Nt. 2 annexation, an area now containing only nine registered voters. Annexation proposed last year was delayed when it was found the area had over 12 voters and procedures for inhabited annexation would be required.

The council also is to review plans and authorize bids for the Camino Alto trunk sewer line.

Young Survivor Of Sierra Said Good

SANTA MONICA (AP) — Spunky Gary Fraser, the 10-year-old who survived a 10-day ordeal lost in the High Sierra, was recuperating today in a Santa Monica hospital where he was transported from Fresno's Sierra Hospital.

The boy is in an isolation ward at St. John's Hospital, still weak from his ordeal in the mountains. His condition was listed as "good."

Split Growing Over Ship Fuss

MOSCOW (AP) — The Soviet government has warned China it is endangering trade and shipping agreements between the two countries by harassing Soviet ships.

The warning was sounded in a new protest note delivered yesterday to the Chinese Embassy in Moscow and made public today. It demanded harassment stop.

The Soviet Foreign Ministry charged in the note that it has become impossible for Soviet ships to use the Chinese port of Dairen on the Yellow Sea. This is one of the main ports for Soviet-Chinese trade by sea.

Police Use Chemical In Racial Violence

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (UPI)—Waves of policemen armed with rifles and the chemical paralyzer "mace" cleared main streets of four Negro sections to quell a second night of racial violence last night. More than 250 persons were arrested.

The chemical riot weapon was used for the first time here during the shoulder-to-shoulder sweeps by state and local police through the trouble areas.

'APATHY MIST'

Police said at least 24 of those arrested were subdued by officers who sprayed the "apathy mist" into their faces. The chemical burns the eyes slightly and restricts a person's oxygen intake, lulling him into a passive state.

"We had to use it quite a bit," New Haven police Capt. Raymond Wiederland said. "It was very effective."

Wiederland said his men used the spray "only when the man became troublesome and we couldn't subdue him any other way."

He said the action of the "mace" at first caused a burning sensation in the victim's eyes because it contains a small amount of tear gas.

'FEELS SAD'

"Then he feels a deep sense of apathy and loses his will to resist," Wiederland said. "He usually just slumps to his knees and feels very sad."

During a seven-hour period, ending shortly before 2 a.m. today, police had arrested more than 200 persons on charges of inciting to injure persons or property, breach of peace, theft and curfew violation.

YOUTH WOUNDED

The arrests brought to over 250 the number of persons rounded up since violence broke out Saturday night after a white luncheonette owner shot and wounded a Puerto Rican youth in the predominantly Negro hill section of New Haven.

The steamroller sweeps by officers were ordered by Mayor Richard C. Lee to enforce his 8 p.m. curfew.

Last night police reported seven fires, including four buildings and three automobiles. Another car was overturned.

Prison Inmate Stabbed Twice

A 26-year-old San Quentin inmate was stabbed twice yesterday while in the prison yard.

Robert Low, serving five years to life for first degree robbery in Los Angeles, was reported in good condition today at the prison hospital despite knife wounds in the right kidney and a cut hand.

Associate Warden James W. L. Park said a 14-inch blade from a pair of garden shears was found in the yard's gutter.

Par said there are no suspects but that Low is "a known prison gambler and it appears quite likely that the incident is related to his involvement."

Royalty Gets Lift

LONDON (UPI) — Neither Princess Margaret, 5 feet, nor her husband Lord Snowdon, about 5',7", sits very tall in the saddle. So their newest limousine, a four-door sedan has an adjustable back seat that can be moved forward and upward —"to give better visibility on state occasions," according to the official explanation.

Sniper Fires Shots, Two Are Wounded

BERKELEY (AP) — A sniper fired three measured shots into a quiet residential neighborhood here, critically injuring a man, seriously injuring a woman, and putting a third bullet through the clothing of another man.

Police arrested Herbert B. Hughes, 41, of 1946 Russell St. after calculating the angle of fire from the three targets. He was booked on three counts of assault with intent to commit murder and held on $66,000 bail. Police said he refused to make a statement after he was arrested in his home with a .22 caliber bolt action rifle.

"It was loaded," said a police officer, "but he didn't attempt to use it on the officers."

The firing began Sunday when Dwight L. Walton, 21, of 2872 Deline St., drove by and was shot in the head. He was in critical condition at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Moments later Linda Kleven, 23, turned into Russell St. as she was walking home and was shot in the jaw. She was hospitalized in serious condition.

Police said a unidentified third person had a bullet pass through his clothing but miss his body.

U.S. Embassy In London Machine Gunned From Car

LONDON (AP) — Police throughout southeast England searched today for three well dressed men in a white car who machine gunned a side entrance of the U.S. Embassy in London and left a note attacking American racial and foreign policies.

The burst of fire at 11:35 p.m. yesterday drilled holes the size of tennis balls in and around the side door of the big concrete and glass building, smashed three glass door panels and punctured lamps on the steps.

"The attack was sudden and sharp—just like something from the prohibition era," said a Scotland Yard spokesman.

One of the two U.S. Marine guards in the building—Cpl. John McNamara, 23, of the Bronx, N.Y.—was about to pass the side door when the attack came. But no one was injured.

A British policeman on duty outside the main entrance threw himself to the ground when he heard the firing. McNamara and Staff Sgt. Francis McLaughlin of Wyncote, Pa., the other Marine on duty, rushed out in time to see a white Ford Cortina speed away.

The gunman left behind a foot-long sheet of paper. Scrawled on it in capital letters was this message: "STOP CRIMINAL MURDERS OF THE AMERICAN ARMY. SOLIDARITY WITH ALL PEOPLE BATTLING AGAINST YANKEE FASCISM ALL OVER THE WORLD. RACISM NO. FREEDOM FOR AMERICAN NEGROES."

Minor Injuries As Cars Pile Up

A San Francisco woman suffered minor injuries yesterday in a three-car pileup on Highway 101, north of Lucas Valley Road.

Southbound cars driven by Doon Poochin, 65, of San Francisco and Robert Lee Thomas, 57, of Palo Alto, stopped in heavy traffic at 9:25 p.m., California Highway Patrol reported.

A car driven by Emma H. Irwin, 55, of San Francisco, then hit the rear of the Thomas car, pushing it ahead into Poochin's vehicle, according to the patrol.

Mrs. Irwin was treated at Hamilton Air Force Base Hospital.

No Torch Passing At Muir Beach

There was a lot of peace at Muir Beach last night but no peace torch.

Some 50 people assembled there at sunset for a passing ceremony as part of the Peace Torch Marathon, a plan to carry a peace symbol from Hiroshima to President Johnson.

"They guy who was bringing the torch from San Francisco got lost," said Mike Oster, Vietnam Summer Marin worker in charge of last night's ceremony.

"It might be just as well," he said, the fog blocked the sunset which was to be an integral part of the ceremony.

Yesterday afternoon more than 60 doctors and their families carried the torch in a ceremony in San Francisco's Aquatic Park but it just never made it to the Marin group last night.

The torch, which was lighted at the Hiroshima Memorial flame Aug. 6, was flown to San Francisco on the first leg of its symbolic journey to the White House. After a final Bay Area ceremony at Grace Episcopal Church in San Francisco next Sunday, the torch is scheduled to depart for Washington and a national peace demonstration Oct. 21.

Warm Weather Garb

NEW YORK (UPI)—If, as is often said, the world is going to hell in a handbasket, people now can be dressed for it. A textile manufacturer, J.P. Stevens, has announced the invention of a new fabric that will resist temperatures as high as 6,000 degrees.

Council To Hear Plan For A Regional Park

The San Anselmo City Council will hear plans for including Sorich Ranch in a regional park from San Rafael landscape architect William F. Kapranos tomorrow at 8 p. m.at city hall.

Councilman Duane C. Ragan has asked the council to consider action on the ruins of three apartment buildings on Red Hill and an old house on Red Hill which once belonged to Norman Gilroy, and the controversial question of whether another maintenance man is needed for the public works department.

A public hearing will be held of on undergrounding utilities on Sir Franics Drake Boulevard between Bank Street and Greenfield Avenue. The council will consider whether action is needed on an abandoned house at 24 Timothy Avenue, owned now by the Tamalpais Savings and Loan Co.

The San Rafael Taxi Cab. Co. has asked the council to consider allowing the company to increase its rates from 60 to 70 cents for the first two fifths of a mile and from $1.50 to $2 for each quarter-hour of waiting.

The council will consider revision of the zoning ordinance to increast minimum lot size from 5,000 to 7,500 square feet in residential zones, and will consider ordinances rezoning San Francisco Theological Seminary propertay at 111 and 117 Ross Avenue and 118 Mariposa Avenue from single-family to multiple-dwelling residential.

Mrs. Karl Reavell has submitted a claim for $7,500 damages suffered when her car was involved in a multiple-car accident May 5, when two escaped San Quentin prisoners were captured on Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

Novato Council To Consider Hiring Planning Director

Novato city councilmen will hold a closed session following its regular 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow to discuss hiring a planning director to replace Robert Lagle who resigned July 15.

The closed session is also to discuss appointments to the downtown committee and the citizen bond committee, according to Peggy Lehigh, administrative secretary.

Under the Ralph M. Brown Act, it is legal to hold closed meetings for hiring, firing or bringing charges, but no allowance is specified for such action as making committee appointments.

Councilmen will also discuss the proposed city-county planning council agreement. The matter was approved in principle Aug. 8 but, at that time, there were but three councilmen present.

Pair Slain; Ex-Husband In Hospital

PALO ALTO (AP) — Police said a man killed his divorced wife and a Lockheed Co. executive here last night, then shot himself in the head.

The dead were William L. McLinn, 45, of Sunnyvale, and Lydia Olczak, 42, of Palo Alto. Tadeusz Olczak, 49, was in critical condition today at a Palo Alto hospital.

The shooting at Mrs. Olczak's home was witnessed by her 14-year-old daughter, Irene, who called police. The Olczaks' six-year-old son slept through the shooting. Another son, George, 20, arrived about the same time as police.

Police said 13 shots may have been fired. They found an empty eight-bullet clip near the bodies. A similar clip, still containing three shots, was in the pistol on the floor next to Olczak.

Olczak is under guard at the hospital. Police said no formal charge would be filed until they question him.

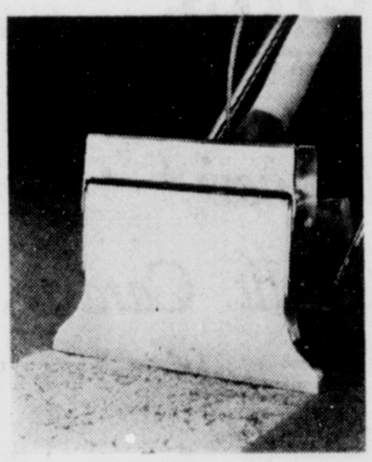
DEEP STEAM Wall to Wall Carpet Cleaning

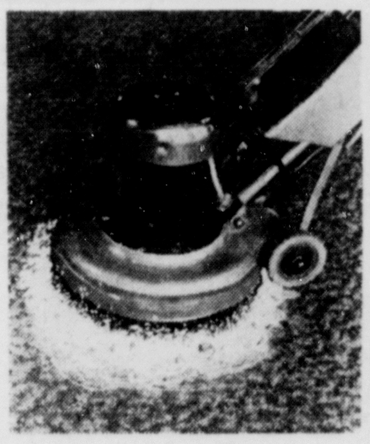
This unique new process cleans deep and yet treats the finest carpet with loving care . . .



DEEP STEAM removes soil from both the pile of the carpet and the carpet backing. Since no brushes or scrubbing action are used, there is no distortion of the carpet pile. The powerful extraction action of the DEEP STEAM process lifts matted pile to "like new" appearance. The need of frequent professional cleaning is reduced because deeply embedded soil is removed and leaves no residue in the carpet fibers to collect dirt.

OLD

The old equipment with brushes, using liquid detergent or powder, scrubs the soil DEEPER into the fabric . . . and even with the help of a vacuum fails to remove soil or residue. The detergent or powder left in the fabric soon attracts more soil and it is not long before the soil works back to the surface. Soon your carpets appear more soiled than before!



THIS DEEP STEAM PROCESS IS GUARANTEED TO BE COMPLETELY SAFE ON ALL FABRICS UNDER ALL CONDITIONS!

Have your loose rugs and furniture steam cleaned at our plant

Now Possible To Shrink Painful Hemorrhoids

And Promptly Stop The Itching, Relieve Pain In Most Cases.

New York, N. Y. (Special): A scientific research institute has discovered a medication which has the ability in most cases – to actually shrink hemorrhoids. In case after case, the sufferer first notices prompt relief from the itching, burning and pain. Then this medication starts right in to gently reduce the swelling of inflamed, irritated hemorrhoids.

Tests conducted on hundreds of patients by leading doctors in New York City, in Washington, D.C. and at a Midwest Medical Center proved this so. And it was all accomplished without narcotics or stinging astringents of any kind.

The secret is Preparation H® – an exclusive formula for the treatment of hemorrhoids. There is no other formula like it! In addition to actually shrinking piles and relieving the painful distress – Preparation H lubricates, makes bowel movements less painful and soothes the irritated tissues. It also helps prevent further infection.

Preparation H comes in ointment or suppository form. No prescription is needed.

Fairbanks Residents Moving Back

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—(AP)—Residents of this flood-scarred city moved back to their homes in increasing numbers today, hoping that the receding waters of the Chena River would uncover no further dead.

Two more victims of the waters that swirled through Fairbanks and downstream Nenana, on the Tenana River into which the Chena flows, were found yesterday, bringing the total known death toll to seven—four in Fairbanks, one in Nenana and two at Tok.

One of the new victims, Bill Wardzella, 54, was found in the back room of a business house in downtown Fairbanks. The other, an unidentified woman, was discovered floating in the flood-covered streets at Nenana.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Wife's Trying To Get The Message Across On Who Wears The Pants

DEAR HELEN:

I happen to intensely dislike slacks on women. Most men do, but most husbands are too milkytoast about putting their foot down. I am not. I told my wife when we were married that a lady wears skirts, period!

But I am getting insubordination. Yesterday she announced that if she couldn't wear shorts around the house, I shouldn't wear a choir robe on Sunday. She says she'll switch to skirts if I'll shed my Sunday "dress," as this is as feminine for a man as pants are masculine for a woman.

What's with her anyway?—CROSSED

DEAR CROSSED:

She's trying to tell you something, my prehistoric friend — like "If you stop being ridiculous, I will."—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My widowed friend has met a man she wants to marry. But I have heard that he has been divorced twice because of a drinking problem. Mutual friends tell me he can't support a wife and his habit — which he hides from her. She thinks he is the victim of "bad luck," but he evidently gets it from the bottle.

She has a good job and a nice income, but she is lonely and therefore gullible. I've said nothing, as she might hate me for interfering.

How can I tactfully warn her before she jumps into what might be a big mess?—SINCERELY CONCERNED

DEAR S.C.:

Tell her what you've heard, not as a warning but because, "It's your right to know what others are saying." If she's not completely blinded by loneliness she'll check before she jumps.

. . . But don't expect thanks. People who upset the applecart are seldom appreciated, even though the apples are rotten.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

My husband is a meat-and-potatoes man —three times a day! He insists on a breakfast steak and hash browns, or sometimes he'll settle for sausage and potato-bacon omelette. Lunch: full course and hot. Dinner: more of the same. I could never get away with soup and sandwiches for lunch, or a mixture dish for dinner. It's gotta be fresh meat and potatoes, plus all the trimmings, including rolls and dessert. He's a desk man, not a laborer.

This means I'm hardly through with one meal before I must start another. Dishes pile up, as we have five in the family. Our grocery bills are what keeps me wearing last year's clothes.

Tell me, Helen, is it necessary to serve three very, very squares every day?—POOPED

DEAR POOPED:

No! Cut down on calories before those three very, very squares make your family go "round" . . . if they haven't already. It's easier to keep off blubber than take it off. But you'd better have a doctor tell your husband this — not me!—H.

DEAR HELEN:

I have been married 17 years and have five children. My husband has stepped out on me ever since the first year, has fathered someone else's baby, messed around with my best friend, hit me, kicked me, treated the children mean.

I used to beg him to love me. I kept myself attractive for him. I did all I could, but he still walked all over me and laughed about it. Finally, I moved out with the children. Now he's on my doorstep begging me to come back. I have a good job, and am happy for the first time in 16 years. So are the children. Yet marriage should be forever. What would you do if you were in my boots?—GUILTY ABOUT BEING HAPPY

DEAR GABH:

. . . I'd use them to shove an unnecessary evil off my doorstep!—H.

Architects To Be Interviewed By Hub Trustees

The San Anselmo School District board will interview architects for planned school buildings tomorrow at 6:30 p.m. at Red Hill School.

The buildings, mainly at Red Hill and Hidden Valley Schools, depend on passage of the district's Oct. 10 $950,000 bond issue and 75-cent tax rate increase.

The architects will be interviewed at a public meeting, followed by the board's regular meeting at 9:30 p.m. The board will consider plans of the citizens' committee to campaign for passage of the election issues, and will continue consideration of an easement around Red Hill School for the Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Reagan Plans Large General Services Cuts

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The economy - minded administration of Gov. Ronald Reagan is planning to cut the spending of the multi-faceted General Services Department by "more than $100 million" this year.

The reductions — in areas ranging from data processing to the state's telephone bill — are expected to total about one-fifth of the department's 1967 - 68 budget, said director Andrew R. Lolli.

Among the planned savings — largely through more efficient operations—that Lolli announced Saturday in a talk to the Palos Verdes Breakfast Club were:

Data processing system reorganization, $10 million.

Relocation of some state offices from rented, privately owned buildings to unused space space in state buildings, $4.8 million.

Alterations in the telephone system, $2 million.

More selective buying of tires for state vehicles, $160,000.

Lolli also said he expected a 30 per cent cut in state food purchasing costs through buying less frequently, but in larger quantitites.

He did not mention other areas of economy, nor did he say whether the savings would involve job cuts.

Elderly Widows Asphyxiated

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Two elderly widows were asphyxiated yesterday in what the coroner's office called an apparent accident.

The victims were Olga Redukoff, 75, and Anna Lushnikoff, 64.

A gas heater in Mrs. Redukoff's apartment was on when the bodies were discovered, deputy coroner Jack Anthony said.

LBJ's Vietnam Policy Suffering In Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson holds a slim 15-13 margin of support for his Vietnam war policies among 28 senators whose seats will be at stake in the 1968 electons, an Associated Press poll shows.

An over - all canvass of the Senate in which 84 of the 100 senators expressed their opinions found 44 willing to give a broad endorsement to the course Johnson is following and 40 opposed to it.

Johnson's conduct of the war is the underlying issue in hearings which the Senate Foreign Relations Committee resumes today with Undersecretary of State Nicholas Katzenbach as a witness.

Led by Chairman J. W. Fulshowed every intention of airing further complaints that the President is over - committing the United States militarily and isn't taking steps that lead to peace negotiations.

On the other side, the AP canvass disclosed some hawks are standing pat behind the President but demanding even greater military efforts while others are deserting him because he has refused to take all the wraps off U.S. fighting forces.

CRITICAL ISSUE

For the candidates who will be seeking Senate seats next year, support or criticism of the President's policies may be come critical in their campaigns.

Johnson is expected to head the Democratic ticket. As of now 10 Democrats who presumably will be running with him back his policies while nine oppose.

Among prospective Republican candidates who will be on a ticket opposing Johnson's reelection five now generally support the way he is conducting the war and four are critical of his policies.

SIX SILENT

Four Democrats and two Republicans declined to ake any stand at this point. Several of those who did express an opinion didn't want to be named publicly.

Three New Industries For Watts

LOS ANGELES (AP) —Three ununsual new industries are planned to open in the predominently Negro area of Watts, opening up to 2,000 new jobs by late 1968.

It will cost $4.6 million to establish the businesses — one to reclaim government surplus elctronic gear, another to wrap baseball bat handles with plastic tape and a third to harden softwood lumber for heavy duty work.

The announcement of the plans was made Saturday by an aide to Lt. Gov. Robert H. Finch — Norm Hodges — speaking to a "Green Power" conference of about 100 Negro community leaders.

The electronic equipment would involve operation dismanteling some devices for parts and rebuilding others for government job training programs. It would be in conjunction with the federal Training for Tomorrow project.

The other operations would be private endeavors.

The wood hardening and fusion plant, proposed by General Electric Co., would use harmless radioactive treatment.

Employment Up In Bay Area

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Both employment and unemployment keep growing in the Bay Area, state officials said yesterday.

Employment totaled 1.2 million last week, 24,400 more than in July, 1966.

Some 61,800 people were looking for work, 3,100 more than the same time last year.

Medi-Cal Cuts Called 'Brutal'

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Assemblyman Willie L. Brown Jr. asked Gov. Ronald Reagan yesterday to call a special session of the Legislature to provide additional financing for the Medi-Cal program.

The San Francisco Democrat, in a telegram to the governor, said cuts in Medi-Cal coverage "are an unconscionable imposition upon children and elderly persons in need of full medical protection."

In a letter to Health and Welfare Director Spencer Williams, which Brown released yesterday, the assemblyman charged that Williams' cutbacks in Medi-Cal coverage were "brutal and punitive."

The 22-year-old trucker, who escaped uninjured, said it all happened when his rig hit a curb on the San Quentin Wye overpass just south of San Rafael at 7 a.m. yesterday. Northbound traffic was slowed to a crawl for about an hour and a half.

Boat Explodes After Fueling; Pair Is Burned

Two Bay Area men were hospitalized yesterday after their 21-foot power cruiser exploded and burned at Clipper Yacht Harbor, Sausalito.

Boat owner Lawrence Coleman, 25, of Redwood City, was in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with burns on the face and right leg. His companion, Lee Wilson, 39, of Mountain View, was in fair condition with burns on the face, arms and chest.

The Sausalito fire department said the engine exploded when the ment started it after refueling at the Union Oil Co. fuel barge at 2:55 p.m.

Both men jumped overboard and the barge attendant started towing the burning boat into the bay. A Coast Guard cutter, passing on its way to free a grounded boat in Richardson Bay, saw the fire and sped to the boat and extinguished the flames.

Wilson's wife, Dianan, 25, and Jo Ann Farrell, 20, Coleman's companion, were standing on the dock when the boat exploded. They were not injured but were treated for shock at Marin General Hospital.

No damage estimate was made for the gutted boat, which was towed to the Army Corps of Engineers dock.

Peterzell

Paul E. Peterzell, who has been at the I-J's Southern Marin bureau in Mill Valley, takes over coverage of political news which Takeshita has been handling. Peterzell also will cover a variety of regional boards and commissions involving Marin, such as the Bay Conservation and Development Commission, Bay Area Transportation Study, etc.

Owners Fight To Keep Black Point Operations

Owners of commerical and light industrial property along the Petaluma River waterfront at Black Point fought for the right to continue operations at a hearing this morning before the Marin County Planning Commission.

Attorney Bryan McCarthy, representing dredger Charles Hover, charged that planning director Paul C. Zucker "wants to put the whole county under a set plan." McCarthy said Hover owns a dredging firm on Day's Island about a quarter mile east of Black Point cutoff and has been operating it for years. "He wants it just as it is and should not have to come in to bicker with the planners," said McCarthy.

'I RESENT IT'

Planning director Zucker said McCarthy is "challenging the integrity of the staff and I resent it." Zucker pointed out that his staff is merely trying to rezone the area to comply with the Novato Master Plan which was adopted by the county and by Novato.

A Lerch, representing the Black Point Improvement Club, also opposed rezoning of commerical and industrial to agricultural. "We've tried to develop a nerve center in the area," said Lerch. "It is served by water, rail, and freeway. It would be a great injustice to have it suddenly turned back to agricultural and let Sonoma County pick up the ball." Lerch warned that if commercial and industrial areas were restricted too stringently, the Sonoma side of the Petaluma River would develop commerically and get all the benefits.

A cabinet maker on Deer Island also opposed rezoning, pointing out he had bought his property and got permission to build a little shop. He said he was never told that his land would revert to agricultural.

FIELD TRIP

After an hour's discussion, the planning commissioners decided to continue the rezoning hearing until Sept. 11. The commissioners said they want to make a field trip of the area to get a clearer picture of the problems.

Proposed excavation of the Fernando Clemntino property at 496 Oliver Olive Avenue to expand the heavy equipment business he has on the property is also continued until Sept. 11.

Trials Slated For Pair In Patrol Fracas

Just A Wall Left On Old Sorich Ranch

Sgt. Theodore E. Green said the guard will try to tear down the remaining wall, either with a bulldozer or with dynamite, sometime in the next two weeks. He said some grading and leveling also remain to be done.

The only civilian casualty of the weekend was the city corporation yard building, which suffered an eight-inch hole in the roof from flying debris following a 10-stick dynamite explosion yesterday about 4 p.m. Robert Golcher of the public works department said city crews can repair the hole.

A cable broke on the guard's tractor early Sunday, slowing the work. About 200 pounds of dynamite are left from the 400 pounds the city purchased for the job, and the explosives are being stored at the corporation yard. City mechanic Norman Shepley said the stored dynamite presents no danger.

Expected crowds of observers did not materialize. national Guard officer kept the area surrounded, but the only unofficial observers were a few children.

Youth Jailed On Stolen Car Count, Also Hit-Run

A San Rafael youth was being held today at the San Francisco city jail on charges from San Anselmo police of car theft and hit-and-run and complaints by San Francisco police of drunken driving and having no drivers license in his possession.

Benjamin Skippingday, 19, of 819 Mission Avenue, San Rafael, was arrested about 4 p.m. yesterday by San Francisco police at the Golden Gate Bridge toll gate, minutes after San Anselmo police sent out an all points bulletin to stop the car, stolen at 3:45 p.m. in San Anselmo.

Margery Tingley of 1369 San Anselmo Avenue, San Anselmo, owner of the 1966 Ford Mustang, told police a man entered the Escrow Bar at 114 Greenfield Avenue, sat down next to her at the bar, grabbed her car keys off the bar and ran outside. She said he took her car, and as he drove off he hit a parked 1966 Ford belonging to Ethel F. Middaga of 742 Francisco Boulevard, San Rafael. Police estimated damage to each car at $300.

Span Record

For the second Sunday in a row, a one-day traffic record was set yesterday on the Golden Gate Bridge with 98,667 vehicles crossing, bridge authorities reported. A total of 97,850 crossed the bridge the previous Sunday. Baseball and football games in San Francisco contributed to the record traffic, authorities said.

Patrick Rips Chairman Of Conservative Group

William Penn Patrick today said the chairman of a conservative Republican group was "two-faced" for disavowing Patrick's statement to the group that Chief Justice Earl Warren should be hanged.

Joseph Crosby of South Pasadena, chairman of the United Republicans of California, said Saturday that Patrick's remarks Aug. 12 "were as ridiculous and repugnant to me as I am sure they were to other responsible citizens."

Crosby said he should have asked Patrick "to leave the platform immediately."

Patrick, however, said Crosby "applauded everything I said very vigorously and said afterward that it was a 'great speech.'" Crosby's "change speech.'" Crosby's "change of mind," Patrick said, "shows a lack of courage to stand up for one's convictions."

Patrick, a candidate in the last Republican gubernatorial primary, said he may resign from the organization, which claims 9,000 members.

"One of my problems is that I am not two-faced," he added. " Crosby is not speaking for the majority of the people in UROC; he just wants to look good to the Governor and to some of the people of the state," Patrick said.

His controversial statement was made to a UROC Board of Governors meeting in Santa Maria.

Patrick emphasized today he meant Warren should be tried for treason. "If tried properly, he would receive the proper verdict and certainly would be deserving of the highest penalty," Patrick said. "It is pretty standard that a man is executed for treason."

Youth Posts Bail In Radio Theft

Mill Valley police Friday jailed Jack Leon Melin, 19, of 5 Ross Street, San Rafael, on suspicion of stealing auto parts after a radio was taken from a cer belonging to Dr. Emmy Sylvester of 168 Ralston Avenue.

Police said they found the radio on the floor of Melin's pickup truck.

Melin posted $289 bail and was to appear this afternoon in Marin Municipal Court.

Bullets shattered a window but no one was hurt. The two men were dressed "in hippie garb" said Travis.

Alas! Poor Johnny! We Knew Him When . . .

In two more weeks, Johnny (and Jenny) will go back to school.

A lot of Johnnies will be going to school — real school — for the first time. Last year they went to kindergarten; but that was play. This year, they've been told, they'll learn to read.

This is a wonderful thing. They can then read the balloons in the comic books — and the commercials on television. They can even read the newspapers and find out what it was dad and mom were talking about they couldn't understand.

Alas! Grim disillusionment awaits poor Johnny.

The books from which he is to learn to read have nothing about daring heroes or frightening monsters like those in the comic books. They have no lilting jingles like those on the television commercials. They have no roaring race cars or zooming jets, so dear to the hearts of 6-year-olds in this age of speed.

No, the books are about a couple of very dull children and their pets.

To introduce him to the wonderful world of the printed page, Johnny will be given a book with pictures of these children — a boy and a girl — looking at one another, jumping rope, running around, piling blocks, and watching their pets. Under the pictures are "stories" like this:

"See Dick. See Jane. See Dick and Jane."

"See Spot run. See Spot jump. See Spot run and jump."

In several volumes of that sort of thing, Dick and Jane and Spot acquire some friends, do such ordinary things as riding bicycles and coaster wagons, maybe go to the zoo. In some of the newer books, some of their friends are colored brown. This is supposed to make the books much more acceptable.

By that time, however, Johnny is likely to have decided that reading is a big hoax. Why waste time learning to read if this is all it amounts to?

It would seem that somebody should be able to write a series of interesting books for children in simple enough words so that they could be used to learn to read and develop a vocabulary. It isn't impossible. Dr. Seuss has proved that with his "Cat in the Hat," "Green Eggs and Ham," "Yertle the turtle," etc., which begin with a vocabulary of only 60 words.

Someday, perhaps, someone will produce a "reading series" that makes children want to read, instead of what State Supt. Max Rafferty has called "the most glaring, technicolored example of what a generation of progressive education has done to our schools." Dr. Max was talking about elementary school textbooks in general — and reading books in particular.

But if somebody does, the odds are no textbook publisher will touch it with a 10-foot pole. And if the writer finally finds a publisher, the odds are even greater that no school district will adopt the books.

Alas! Poor Johnny! We knew him when he wanted to read.

LSD's Hidden Danger

No one knows all the effects of taking the drug, LSD. That it is potent there can be little doubt. But beyond its immediate effect of causing beautiful and or horrible hallucinations, little is known.

Research in New York, Oregon and Pennsylvania indicates that LSD may damage a person's chromosomes in much the same way as overexposure to radiation. This could mean that LSD users were harming not themselves as much as generations yet unborn, their children and their children's children's children's children's children.

The final answer is not yet in. But it should cause ardent acidheads to stop and think.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Quarantine Inspection Transfer Means No Saving For Taxpayer

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO, (CNS) — The myth that California taxpayers will "save" about $400,000 annually through transfer of the maritime and airplane plant quarantine protective service to the auspices of the federal government is being propounded by the State Department of Agriculture.

The department announced the transfer along with the statement of "big savings to taxpayers" in a three page release recently.

While transfer of the operation to the federal government may be a highly desirable move, the same government service will be continued and the taxpayers will continue to pay for it. The only difference will be that the expense of the operation will come out of federal government funds, rather than state.

CONSEQUENTLY, it is questionable as to whether any "saving" will be effected at all, as the only real benefits taxpayers derive from savings would be reduction in taxes — highly unlikely as the result of this transfer.

The $400,000 "saved" will probably be spent in some other activity of the State Department of Agriculture.

Whether the state or the federal government operates the maritime and airplane plant quarantine protective program, which has been in effect in California for 76 years, makes little difference to the taxpayer. The service is a necessary one of the protection of agriculture in this state, and it has demonstrated its worth countless times in past decades.

Under the program, inspectors go over imports both on vessels docking at California ports and airplanes landing from foreign countries. Last year, the department reports 10,693 ships were inspected, and 12,637 airplanes.

Ships brought in plant material in 4,939 instances which are prohibited in California. Inspectors rejected 2,429 shipments under the state quarantine.

It is estimated that on the average of every 15 minutes of every hour of every day around the clock, some dangerous plant or dangerous insect is prevented entry by inspectors at all ports of entry.

Some of the pests which have been intercepted in California include the Mediterranean fruit fly, thrips, fire ants, rice stem borers, the Khapra Beetle, scale insects, and citrus canker. Any one of those pests can and have done damage to California crops running up into the million of dollars.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Editorial Incenses Probation Officer

Editor, Independent-Journal:

One of the most potentially amusing comic strips created to date aside, of course, from "Peanuts," is the editorial page of the I-J. The only discernable (sic) difference between the two is that the former appeals more readily to the intelligent reader, is less destructive in intent and more honest in content. And, while usually content to read what you say with the detached amusement it so richly derserves (sic), I cannot help but comment on your recent pusilanimous (sic) venture into the world of marijuana et al.

My own position in this great debate (by the way, does anyone really believe there is still a question here?) is of little import. Besides, the question in my mind is not whether or not marijuana should be legalized or whether possession should constitute a felony or misdemeanor but, rather, whether we as Americans, reportedly caring enough for the democratic process to the point where we'll readily kill thousands of women and children to insure its continuance (whether or not they want our way of life is not really important — they had better accept it, or else!) . . . whether we plan to practice this all-American way in our own country or continue in our sanctimonious attempts to eradicate, stifle or suffocate all avenues of lawful process. To be blunt: do we or do we not believe in freedom of speech?

I, for one, would be happy to dismiss your recent ramblings as no more than an inane attempt at sensationalism, as I simply cannot believe that you think it "most unfortunate" that persons in public office exercize (sic) a constitutional right of free speech. I cannot believe that you truly advocate that those of the "establishment" who have the sensitivity and guts to speak out be publicly humiliated and professionally castrated. Are you asking then that our public officials, those of us who do not agree with likes of J. Edgar Hoover, sign some sort of "waiver" of this right (and of others, perhaps?) as soon as they are appointed to a job with, how did you put it?, "special responsibilities under the law"? Do you not consider the United States Constitution something "special"?

If these dissenters are to be castigated for having merely questioned the party line, if they are to be crucified for merely questioning the powers that be, then I fear we must stop this farce of calling ourselves a democratic country and send these "traitors" to the gas chambers. Or would you prefer an arena with nonsectarian lions?

Because one in public office takes issue with a given law does not rule out the possibility of his continuing to fully support this law to the best of his ability until, by democratic process, this law is no longer with us. Your ill-disguised innuendo re one's contributing to increasing law violations by merely speaking out is, in a word, absurd. If you honestly feel that everyone in public office must join in the brainwashing process, please say so. Only, might I suggest changing their job classifications to that of propaganda agents. Please! Let's stop making believe.

An individual's responsibility to the law is without question in my mind. But so are his rights under the Constitution. If you arbitrarily do away with one of these rights for the sake of convenience or uniformity, you may as well unfurl the Swastika over the county courthouse for all to see. Why kid around any longer. Let's tell it like it is, baby.

Tiburon Downtown Planning 'Absurd'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It is absurd that after two years of incorporation, two long citizen studies, and one detailed plan, the vacant Tiburon Downtown area is being zoned Planned Development (PD). The PD zone gives absolutely NO DIRECTION to the eventual use of character of the downtown, putting off these important decisions until owner-developers present some future plan to either present or future Planning Commissions and Councils. This zoning gives no assurance that we will not end up with another congested, tourist-crowded Sausalito!

The PD zoning does limit heights of buildings of 3 stories and building coverage to 40%. These so-called "limitations" will allow on the 30 acres a series of structures the height of the Tiburon Lodge, containing 500,000 square feet of retail on the ground floor (equal to five (5) Strawberry Town & Country Shopping Centers!) and 3,000 motel rooms on the upper two floors!

If the Citizens Advisory Committe and the TPAC reports said anything, they stressed the desire of us citizens to preserve the residential character of Tiburon. The proposed downtown zoning hardly accomplishes this aim.

In order to correct this inequity to the residents of Tiburon, the following statements should be added to the PD section of the Zoning Ordinance as regards the Downtown area:

1. Additional retail shops and restaurants shall not exceed 50,000 square feet. Additional motel units shall not exceed 50 units.

2. Heights shall not exceed two stories and 30 feet, and densities for apartments and town houses shall not exceed the densities prescribed by the R-3 section of the Ordinance.

3. It is the intent of this section of the Ordinance that development of the Downtown area be accomplished in a manner to maintain the residential character of Tiburon. Therefore, additional retail, restaurant and motel/hotel space is to be minimized in favor of well-landscaped office and residential space as well as open space.

My hope is that the city fathers will RESOLUTELY DECIDE TODAY Tiburon's future character rather than letting these decisions stumble into the vague and distant future.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

The late Fred Allen insisted he bought his lovely wife Portland two estates that were unique. One was so deep in the woods that the previous owner was a bear. The other was so far South that the living room was in the Gulf of Mexico.

If you're under the impression that a baby quail cannot be turned into a household pet, you should read "That Quail, Robert," by Margaret Stanger. Robert wandered into the Stanger household one day and promptly took over. The Stangers didn t even dare to change her name when "she" started lay eggs. She even became housebroken (well, almost housebroken) in due course, and only kicked up a rumpus when she felt she wasn t getting enough attention. On one occasion she deliberately paddled through the mint jelly and showered a half dozen guests with broccoli and butter sauce. The Stangers never ruffled her feathers again!

Robert died — of old age — at three-and-a-half. She was mourned by the whole town where she had ilved.

Breaks Appear In GOP Support Of Johnson's Policy In Vietnam

WASHINGTON — The Republican party is recklessly breaking ranks in its support of U.S. policy in Vietnam.

The long-standing and unanimous GOP leadership position, strongly backing the resistance to Communist aggression in South Vietnam, is now being undermined not by considered party action but by individual defections.

The main defectors from party unity behind the war are Gov. George Romney of Michigan, who thinks he may want to be the presidential nominee, and Sen. Thruston Morton of Kentucky, who now says he would rather switch than fight. They are aided by Sen. John Sherman Cooper of Kentucky and Sen. Charles Percy of Illinbis, who urge a sweeping cutback in the bombing.

Almost from the start, when President Johnson first used American force to help defend South Vietnam in 1965, the Democrats have been deeply divided.

But from the very beginning the Republicans have been firmly united on Vietnam. This unity is eroding at the very moment that Hanoi, for the first time, is openly admitting in the government press that North Vietnam is feeling the pressure of the war on manpower, production, and morale.

WHAT NEXT? Are the GOP defections going to grow or be halted? Is the Republican party about to repudiate its long-proclaimed purpose of resisting Communist expansion-by-force and invite the American people to turn on the Johnson Administration for doing what the GOP leaders have strongly advocated? Do they think this is the way to serve the nation best or to serve their own interests best? Do they think this is the way to win the next presidential election?

Thse are the questions which inevitably arise from the shifting positions of Romney and Morton and the pleas for a one-sided cutback of the bombing by Cooper and Percy.

To begin to get the answers there are balancing facts which should be kept in view.

ROMNEY IS THE LONE Republican presidential prospect who is talking about the decision to defend South Vietnam as a "tragic mistake" and who is acting to stir resistance to U.S. policy.

Nixon, Reagan, Rockefeller are for U.S. policy.

Only this week former President Eisenhower reaffirmed his support of U.S. policy and endorsed the decision to bomb North Vietnamese military targets nearer the China border.

Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen is unwavering in backing the war.

The Republican Coordinating Committee represents the widest spectrum of party policy, including the governors, the Congress and the Republican National Committee. It has never stepped back in its support of the war.

The same is true for the senior GOP members of the Senate and House Foreign Relations Committee.

THESE FACTS JUSTIFY three conclusions:

That the weight of Republican leadership is decisive in support of persevering in Veitnam.

That the Romney and Morton positions are peripheral, not central, to present party policy.

That in the end party policy will be determined by who gets the presidential nomination; if it is Nixon, Rockefeller, or Reagan, the GOP will almost certainly back the war.

I suspect that Romney is hurting his own cause by shifting so substantially from his major Vietnam pronouncements in his Hartford speech of April 7 when his whole thrust was contained in his statement that "our military effort must succeed . . . We must give our gallant fighting men our full support."

His now stated view, that it is the U.S. build-up in Vietnam, not the Communist aggression, which has put Thailand, Laos, and Cambodia in jeopardy, leaves the impression that Romney has a very thin grasp of the realities in Southeast Asia.

INSIDE WASHINGTON

New Politics Meet Appears As 'Front'

By ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON — Congressional investigators have significant evidence that the National Conference for New Politics convening in Chicago late this month is to a considerable degree a front for two extremist organizations evincing increasingly close ties — the U.S. Communist Party and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Aim of both at the NCNP meeting is to lay the groundwork for a third party that will put a so-called "peace and civil rights" ticket in next year's presidential race.

Favored candidates for such a slate are Dr. Martin Luther King and Dr. Benjamin Spock. King is to be "keynoter" at the New Politics "convention."

Other scheduled speakers are Spock; Julian Bond, a co-chairman of the conference, member of the Georgia legislature and one-time SNCC public relations director; Simon Casady, another co-chairman and former head of the militantly liberal California Democratic Council; Paul Booth, ex-president of the leftist Students for a Democratic Society and Warren Hinckle III, editor of Ramparts, leftist muckraking magazine.

Stokely Carmichael, active in organizing the NCNP, also was listed to speak. But the fiery, violence-preaching former head of SNCC, who recently was the fanfared "guest" of Fidel Castro at his Communist conclave in Havana, is now on a "free loading" junket behind the Iron Curtain.

PACKING THE HOUSE — Both the Communist Party and SNCC are busy making certain there will be a large turn-out of their adherents and partisans at the New Politics conference.

It's clearly evident they are bent on dominating it.

Following a meeting of the CP National Committee in New York, Arnold Johnson, the party's public relations director, sent a letter to all district leaders instructing that immediate attention be given to the selection of friendly delegates to the NCNP.

Subsequently, Gus Hall, general secretary, cautioned that identified Communists are not to accept prominent positions in the NCNP.

While stressing that every effort be made to ensure a large attendance of "proper delegates," and that leaders among them be singled out for election to the "right spots," Hall banned out-and-out Communists from filling such roles.

SNCC leaders are still deliberating whether H. Rap Brown, their torrid revolution and violence-preaching chairman, should put in an appearance at the Chicago session. He faces an extradition proceedings in Virginia prior to that, on a grand jury indictment of inciting a destructive riot in Cambridge, Md., and may not be available.

Meanwhile, SNCC is taking steps to have a big representation of its activists at NCNP.

RED STRATEGY — Graphically illustrative of the length to which Communist leaders are going to weld a united front for the purpose of engineering a "peace ticket" into the 1968 presidential contest are pronouncements by top party officials.

General secretary Gus Hall, at a Berkeley, Calif., meeting, declared that all facets of the Communist apparatus must be brought to bear to halt the war in Vietnam and to effect a sweeping political change in the U.S. This can only be done, he thundered by defeating both the Democratic and Republican tickets and electing "peace" candidates.

At a New York meeting, Herbert Aptheker, member of the party's national committee and its chief theoretician, warmly lauded King and Spock as civil rights and anti-Vietnam war crusaders, and acclaimed them as ideally suited for the White House.

Here's Nominee For Lobbyist To Extend Brown Act To State

The legislature piously endorsed this paragraph upon adopting the Ralph M. Brown Act in 1953:

"The people of this state do not yield their sovereignty to the agencies which serve them. The people, in delegating authority, do not give their public servants the right to decide what is good for the people to know and what is not good for them to know. The people insist on remaining informed so that they may retain control over the instruments they have created."

And the legislature took this message and all the rest of the Brown Act and told the local governing bodies that they could not hold closed meetings except to hear charges against or to hire or fire an employee.

THIS IS WONDERFUL, except that the legislature did not include the law in the rule book in Sacramento. The legislature said county, city and local agencies had to keep open meeting doors, but did not restrict itself or state bodies.

This situation can be compared to a neighborhood in which one guy lets his lawn choke with weeds while his neighbor has to mow and manicure in earnest. The guy with the high grass is self-righteous and insensitive.

Thus, many important decisions affecting taxpayers are made behind closed doors in Sacramento.

Jesse Unruh and a flock of legislators may caucus, out comes a bill which goes quickly to the floor of the legislature, the vote is taken, and — zip! — higher taxes for all.

Governor Reagan meets behind closed doors with University of California regents and a new tuition plan is deliberated and a school president fired.

MARIN COUNTY COUNSEL Douglas J. Maloney is annoyed over the state's exemption from the Brown Act, and favors amendment of the law to curb its secrecy.

To obtain this amendment, Marin should send someone to the state capitol to lobby for it. My choice would be Erik Rettig, chairman of the Tiburon Planning Commission.

The commission recently met in closed session and re-elected Rettig as chairman, thus violating the Brown Act, and Rettig later opined that the commission had done nothing wrong.

"You don't always have to obey rules and regulations," he said.

Beautiful! He has all the credentials to get into the secret meetings in Sacramento and talk to those people.

So You Can't Buy Happiness? Well, Look At Schmick And Smug

WASHINGTON — All my life I've been told you can't buy happiness and I must say I used to believe it. But lately I've changed my mind.

Money can buy happiness and usually does.

Take my friends, the Schmicks. They're poor, honest, hard-working people. All they have is each other and they're miserable.

Then take my friends, the Smugs—he's a banker; she inherited money from her father. They live on Park Avenue in the winter and Westhampton in the summer, unless they go abroad. Everything they do costs money, and you won't find two happier people anywhere.

THE SCHMICKS live in a small apartment in Brooklyn in the winter, and they vacation in the same small apartment in Brooklyn in the summer. When they really get desperate, they go to Far Rockaway for a swim.

Once Schmick said to me, "We may not have all the comforts and pleasures of the rich, but do you think that makes us unhappy? You bet your sweet life it does."

The Smugs, on the other hand, wouldn't have it any other way.

Smug told me one night when he had a few drinks too many: "You know, when I was young I was in love with a poor girl who worked as a secretary. I was poor, too, and we were going to get married. Then I met my wife, who was rich, so I decided to marry her. You know something? I bumped into that poor girl a few weeks ago and she had gone all to pieces. It takes money for a woman to keep looking young. I was sure glad I married the rich girl."

THE SMUGS are not happy all the time. Sometimes they fight and then Mrs. Smug flies off to California to visit friends. But the Schmicks fight, too. Only when they get into a quarrel, Mrs. Schmick has no place to go, so they yell at each other until the police come. Last year the Schmicks were fined $30 for disturbing the peace.

The Smugs entertain a lot of important and influential people who accept their invitations because the Smugs are rich. The Schmicks can only afford to entertain relatives they don't like, who complain afterward about the food and liquor.

When it comes to children, the Smugs and Schmicks also differ.

Smug told me, "We have two children. We've given them the best of everything. Private schools, riding lessons, tennis lessons, catered parties—we've bought everything for them that money will buy and they are smart, happy, contented children."

Schmick, on the other hand, told me, "We haven't been able to give our children anything but love and devotion — and they hate us."

SMUG TOLD ME, "I've tried to impress on the children the importance of being rich and the great benefits that can be derived from having money. They know exactly what I'm talking about and they respect me for my wisdom."

Schmick said, "I tell my kids money isn't everything. There are some values in life that are much more important, such as love, friendship and family. And you know what they do? They go around the neighborhood and tell everyone, 'Our pop is nuts.'"

Use Permits On Tiburon Agenda

Four use permits will be sought at the meeting of the Tiburon Board of Adjustments at 8 p.m. today at city hall.

Anthony Marelich asks permission to build two three-unit apartment buildings at Harbor Oak Drive and Mariner Way. Tiburon Townhouses Co. wants to construct 30 townhouses on a Red Hill subdivision downslope from Red Hill Circle. Frederick G. Zelinsky wants a permit for a restaurant "and other shops" at 7-9 Main Street. Ingal Lill Larsson asks permission to operate a bakery, retail shop and lunchroom at 35 Main Street.

$201, 863 To Marin's Jobless In July

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — The State Department of Employment paid unemployment insurance claimants in the area served by the San Rafael office $201,863 during the month of July, Peter Weinberger, director announced today.

Total state-wide payments, in all categories of insurance, amounted to $32,505,644 during the month, he said, a decrease of $4,114,630 from the $36,620,274 paid in June.

Visitors going through a large lumber mill in the Pacific Northwest may see how bark is blasted off logs with high-pressure jets of water. Wafer-thin veneer is swiftly peeled off logs with a sharp saw.

San Francisco Sets Span Policy Session

A committee of the San Francisco Board of Supervisors will meet Thursday to decide whether to hold public hearings to determine board policy on the San Francisco-Marin crossing.

The meeting of the streets and transportation committee at 2 p.m. in San Francisco City Hall, room 228, will consider a motion by Supervisor Leo J. McCarthy and proposed resolutions by Supervisors Jack Morrison and William C. Blake.

McCarthy has suggested the committee hold hearings on all aspects of the San Francisco-Marin study by the Division of Bay Area Toll Crossings plus the role modern ferry boats might have in solving the commute problem. These would guide the board in forming policy to present at the October meeting of the Bay Area Transportation Study Commission.

McCarthy also suggests Mayor John F. Shelley gather all the reports from city and county departments and present them to the board to help it make its policy decision.

Morrison's proposed resolution calls for delay in planning a second deck to the Golden Gate Bridge.

Boat Overhaul

Diesel Engineering & Maintenance of Sausalito has been awarded a $7,598 federal contract for annual overhaul of the government-owned derrick boat Coyote, Lt. Col. Frank C. Boerger, San Francisco district engineer of the Army Corps of Engineers, said today. The work is to be completed within 21 calendar days.

Flying Cross For Heroism In Vietnam

Second Lt. Donald A. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Davis of 733 Bamboo Terrace, Terra Linda, has been awarded the Dintinguished Flying Cross for heroism in Vietnam.

As a helicopter commander, he ignored heavy ground fire from enemy forces to pilot his craft into a position to pick up and reposition Allied troops needed to prevent an escape of the Viet Cong, says the award citation. He made repeated trips into two hostile areas until the last infantry units had been repositioned.

Davis also received the Army Commendation Medal for meritorious service in Vietnam.

The 24-year-old aviator entered the Army in August 1962 after graduating from San Rafael High School. He has served elsewhere overseas including Germany. He is now an instructor pilot at the Army Primary Helicopter School at Fort Wolters, Tex.

Restoration has begun in the Assembly Room of Independence Hall in Philadelphia, scene of the adoption of the Declaration of Independence and Constitution of the United States.

Kentfield Writer Has Feature Story

Kentfield writer Frank Cameron in the September issue of Ford Times tells how a San Francisco newspaper and civic and cultural leaders teamed up to establish the San Francisco Maritime Museum at the foot of Hyde Street.

Watercolor illustrations by Tiburon's Elizabeth Schmidt bolster Cameron's title advice to the magazine's 1,000,000 subscribers, "Visit Nostalgic Bonanza Bay."

Ford Times is distributed by Ford dealers throughout the United States.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Nearly One In Eight Americans Suffers Hay Fever This Season

VAN DELLEN

The wheezing and sneezing season is well under way from coast to coast. There are said to be more than 22 million hay fever and asthma sufferers in this country. These allergic disorders are most likely caused by grass and tree pollen when they appear in spring and early summer.

Weed (ragweed) pollen or mold spore is responsible when hay fever and asthma develop in late summer and early fall. Winter asthma usually stems from household allergens such as dust, animal dander, and feathers.

THE AUGUST-SEPTEMBER hay fever season is well known and relief is available for itching, weeping eyes, clogged nose, and sneezing. The antihistamines and decongestants open up the nasal blockage temporarily and must be repeated several times during the day.

Cortisone-like products act longer but are seldom prescribed for the treatment of hay fever lasting a month or more. This is a nonfatal disease and there is no sense in being subjected to dangerous side reactions.

There is no harm when the hormone is used for short periods of time such as during the height of the season. Nose drops containing cortizone-type drugs are less harmful because very little is absorbed into the system.

MECHANICAL filters are helpful in removing pollen from the home and office. Air conditioning the auto is an aid when driving.

Many individuals take their vacations when hay fever is rife. Areas are selected where pollen pollution is negligible. The southern fringe of Canada, upper parts of the United States, the Pacific coast, lower Florida, Rocky mountains, and Adirondack area are favorite sites.

DESENSITIZATION is the best approach in hay fever. It also lessens the chance of developing asthma later in life.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.)

LIVING TO BE 150

K. R. writes: Fifty years ago, 38 was not considered too young to die. Now that medical science has increased the life span so much, do you think the time will come when people will live to be 150?

REPLY

Possibly. Many animals live eight to 10 times the number of years it takes for them to become mature. Man might be able to do the same, provided he discovers a way to discourage hardening of the arteries.

HOLLOW LEGS

Mrs. G. writes: A 14-year-old girl is always hungry but her waistline is shrinking. Do you think she has a tapeworm?

REPLY

No, but a simple test will answer the question. Children this age usually eat like horses, but the waistline may appear smaller because the youngster is growing taller and weight is being redistributed. I assume this girl is not on a reducing diet.

VACCINATION AGAINST TB

K. A. S. writes: Is vaccination against tuberculosis effective?

REPLY

Not to the same extent as are the vaccines against typhoid, smallpox, diphtheria, measles, polio, and whooping cough.

PUFFY LEGS

B. W. writes: What is lymphedema of the legs?

REPLY

In this condition the tissues become swollen because of blockage of the lymph passageways. Obstruction frequently is due to inflammation or injury.

HOT SEAT

R. S. writes: Whevever I sit in a chair just vacated by someone it feels exceedingly warm. Does this mean my metabolic rate is lower than normal?

REPLY

No. It demonstrates that the hand is not the only part of the body that can distinguish hot from cold. Moreover, wood and leather may retain heat. The person who sits in your chair will get the same sensation.

HALITOSIS

M. C. writes: Please tell me if food lodged in the tube leading to the stomach could cause bad breath.

REPLY

Yes, especially when the food lodged in a pocket (diverticulum) remains long enough to deteriorate.

KNEE CYST

B. Y. writes: What is Baker's cyst?

REPLY

YOUNG HYPERTENSIVE

Mrs. E. O'R. writes: Can an 11-year-old child have high blood pressure?

REPLY

Yes, but it is unusual and frequently is associated with disease elsewhere in the body, particularly the kidneys.

SENSITIVE SOLE

M. L. writes: How can I toughen my soles? I feel the tinest pebble and even walking on hard packed snow hurts.

Huge Desalting Plant Dedicated

CHULA VISTA (AP) — — A $2 million desalting plant, called the world's most efficient by the U.S. Department of Interior, has been dedicated.

Built by Aqua - Chem Inc. of Waukesha, Wash., the facility will purify one million gallons of sea water daily.

The plant, located near San Diego, will be named after the late U.S. Sen. Clair Engel, D-Calif.

Officials said the facility will draw water from nearby South San Diego Bay. They added that the plant operates at twice the efficiency of any other existing desalinization plant.

Instant Trees

LITCHFIELD PARK, Ariz. (UPI)—This city is brand new, in the process of being built on 13,000 acres of farmland near Phoenix. But it already boasts palm-lined streets, thanks to a giant motorized transplanter that digs a seven-foot hole in the ground and plunks in a full sized, mature palm tree. The result: instant tropical greenery.

A large codfish was hung in the Massachusetts State House in 1784 as a symbol of the state's fishing industry. It is still there.

Breakthrough On Fighting A Cold Nears

WASHINGTON (SS) — By tricking the human body into fighting enemies before they strike, scientists believe they may be able to wipe out nearly all virus diseases, including the common cold and some forms of cancer, it was announced today.

They would convince the body it was sick and had to mount an attack on its invaders. Then, when the invaders arrived, the ramparts would be already manned.

Under an attack by viruses, the body fights back by producing an antiviral agent called interferon. First identified ten years ago, interferon is a protein that stops viruses by interfering with their ability to reproduce.

Now, scientists at the Merck Institute for Therapeutic Research, West Point, Pa., report for the first time plans to test in humans compounds that make animals produce interferon.

"This could be the breakthrough we've been waiting for," says Dr. Samuel Baron of the National Institutes of Health.

"If someone comes up with a pill that makes people produce their own interferon, whole populations could be made immune," according to Dr. Robert M. Friedman, also of NIH. "The medical approach to colds and respiratory diseases would be drastically changed."

Just how soon clinical trials can begin is not known, but "consideration is now being given to the initiation of such tests," according to a spokesman for Merck Sharp and Dohme, one of the nation's largest drug manufacturers. Once the tests start, at least five years of work will precede Food and Drug Administration approval of an anti-virus drug for widespread use.

The advance comes after more than six years of research on interferon. Dr. Maurice R. Hilleman and his co-workers report two essential requirements for stimulating the body to produce interferon. To start the process, they inject RNA (ribonucleic acid) in a double-stranded form and free of an inhibitory protein coat.

"By determining that double-stranded RNA is essential, we've discovered the natural basis for interferon induction," Dr. Hilleman says. "Now we have the approach to a practicable way of getting this into man. Our hopes are especially high for preventing common colds."

Most natural RNA occurs in a single-stranded form. But viruses have RNA which has a double-stranded structure at one essential point in their reproductive process. It is at this point that viruses trigger interferon production.

Dr. Hilleman tested three different inducers — a penicillin extract, a synthetic chemical and a viral RNA — in rabbits, mice and cell cultures. All three had a double-stranded configuration; all three induced interferon and virus resistance.

Of 20 mice treated with double-stranded RNA from the penicillin mold, 90 per cent survived normally lethal doses of pneumonia virus. Thirty mice without the special RNA died. Similarly, 86 per cent of 21 mice protected with synthetic RNA survived lethal doses but all 17 control mice died.

Dr. Friedman and other scientists, including Noblel Prize winner Dr. Jon Enders of Harvard University, feel it is premature to conclude that double-stranded RNA is the only thing which will stimulate interferon production, but they agree that the finding that double-strandedness appears to always work is extremely important.

"Interferon has a big future in studies of how cells work," Dr. Friedman says.

Although scientists now consider double-stranded RNA a key component of interferon induction, there is still much to learn about how it works at the cellular level.

In the meantime, the inducers studied in Dr. Hilleman's laboratory, particularly the penicillin extract, offer a potentially inexpensive and readily available raw material for use in clinical trials and eventually, if it works as well as it promises, by the public.

Dart Guns Wasted On Sea Mammals

WASHINGTON (SS) — In recent years scientists with dart guns have been happily shooting knockout drops into animals — for the beasts' own good, of course.

Grizzly bears, rhinoceroses, elephants, all have been doped on the hoof, usually so researchers could attach small radio transmitters, track their hung-over subjects, and learn their habits. This information, hopefully, would allow game managers to avoid extinction of the species.

Then the scientists went to sea — with disastrous results.

Swimming mammals, like the whales and dolphins, turn out to be heavier than water. If you knock them out they sink. Further, they breath less automatically, and more by conscious command than land animals do — so when they are unconscious they may not breathe at all.

These drawbacks to stunning sea-dwelling beasts were made known by five prominent scientists, who warn their colleagues against the practice in the August issue of the magazine Science.

"There have recently been several attempts, for the most part not reported in the literature, to immobilize free-swimming cetaceans, resulting in the pointless death of a number of whales, none of which appears to have been recovered even as a carcass for useful study," they state.

Californian Wins Contest

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A 20-year-old Norwalk, Calif., girl who reads the classics for recreation has been selected Miss World-USA.

Pamela Valari Pall was named to represent the United States in the Miss World beauty pageant in a nationally televised ceremony emceed by Bob Hope here Saturday night.

The world contest will be held in London in November.

Besides the classics, she enjoys dancing and sports. She is an expert water skier. She weighs 118 pounds and measures 36-23-36.

Some Psychologists Hold Inkblot Tests Are Useless

By SCIENCE SERVICE

Americans spend $25 million a year on Rorschach tests — reading images into inkblots—but some psychologists believe they're throwing their money away.

The process began in 1921, when the Swiss-German psychiatrist, Hermann Rorschach, published his inkblot method of personality testing and then died at only 37. Since then, generations of psychologists have been pondering the relationship of his ten smudges—formed by folding a piece of paper over an ink blot—to human personality.

Behavioral scientists have probed inkblots for evidence that they can measure mental health. More than 3,000 publications have come from this massive research effort.

The Rorschach series has claimed twice the attention of any other personality test for a number of reasons. It's as esoteric, mysterious, imaginative, provocative as a dream, fits neatly into Freudian psychoanalytic concepts and for years led all other tests in clinical use.

Each year, a million persons take the Rorschach at a cost of $25 million and five million clinical man-hours. Before a student of psychology or psychiatry is qualified to administer the test, he needs three semesters of specialized Rorschach training.

But the test remains controversial.

"The Rorschach is not just another test, it's a whole culture," says Dr. Arthur R. Jensen, a University of California psychologist. Dr. Jensen is one of a large group of reputable behavioral scientists who would like to see the Rorschach abandoned.

Using the Rorschach is like reading tea leaves, he says. The reader produces telling insights about the client sitting across from her, but her clues don't come from the leaves.

Another, equally large group of reputable clinicians feel exactly the opposite. "I find the test quite useful for diagnosing the kinds of conflicts people have," says Dr. Ernest G. Schachtel, a training analyst at the William Alanson White Institute of Psychiatry, Psychoanalysis and Psychology in New York.

In his experience the Rorschach predictions have hit close to the mark. There is usually "pretty good agreement" between the test data and what the patient turned out to be in the long run, Dr. Schactel maintains.

The Rorschach test used today is the same 10 inkblots made in 1921 — some black and white, some colored — though innumerable variations of the inkblot theme are also in use. According to Rorschach's original theories, the important thing is not what an individual sees in the inkblot, but how he sees it. The two are difficult to separate. Rorschach theorized that the patient's perception of form, color and motion (called "determinants") were better clues to personality than his identification of the blot.

Roughly speaking, color relates to emotions, form to mental control and motion to creativity, and the "inner life," in Rorschach analysis.

If someone should see color at the expense of form, he would tend to be the impulsive type; if form at the expense of color, he would fall into the pedantic, or possibly depressive, category. Seeing human movement in the inkblots is wholly positive, indicating such qualities as creative ability, individualism and a developed inner life.

Some testers turn this entire structure around, ignore the determinants and use thematic content as the index of mental health and illness.

One of the weapons Dr. Jensen uses against the Rorschach is the fact that scientists, including Nobel Laureates, have usually made low scores on the movement index. Artists offer ambiguous evidence which means means either that some artists are not creative, or the Rorschach does not measure their creativity.

To scientifically minded experimentalists, Rorschach is a subtle instrument for probing beneath surface personality. Its validity, they claim, has been established through years of actual use and millions of case histories.

The problem is that, like the reader of tea leaves, the clinician can't help contaminating his test data with his own perceptions of the patient. As one critic points out, a good therapist will take signals from almost any source.

Experimentalists relegated the Rorschach to the junkpile about five years ago after a series of sophisticated evaluations of the test. Rorschach experts, working only from test data, were measured against comprehensive psychiatric case histories and came off badly. Their rate of success was no better than chance, says Dr. Jensen.

In addition, the Rorschach is biased toward the pathological, so that psychiatrically normal people come out looking somewhat sick, he points out.

Many universities oriented toward research rather than practice have dropped Rorschach training. At Stanford University, for example, educational psychologist Lee J. Cronbach says the Rorschach is a dead issue. "It seems to have wandered off into the bush," he said.

Plans For Medic Center On Agenda

The Larkspur Planning Commission will consider architectural plans for a new Ross Valley medical clinic on South Eliseo Drive tomorrow at 8 p.m. at city hall.

The commission will consider rezoning part of the Greenbrae Convalescent Hospital property on Bay View Road from residential to administrative-professional, and will review revised landscaping plans for Peter J. Wikel's office building on 275 Magnolia Avenue.

George Bertram seeks a grading permit and architectural review for an addition to the Marin Mobile Park at 2130 Redwood Highway.

Packaged Sweets

CHICAGO (UPI)—The sales leader among all confectionery lines in 1966 was the "package goods" category, ranging from boxed chocolates sold in candy stores to bagged candies sold in supermarkets. This line accounted for 40.6 per cent of the candy industry's total dollar sales.

Alaska with a population of 250,000, has 43,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians, the original inhabitants.

Robot System In City Hall

San Francisco (AP) — Masses of red tape are expected to be saved by a robot system. Complete with television receivers flashing instant information on desk screens, now in operation at City Hall.

First of the agencies to be connected with the system was the department of Social Services, where the maze of data is of vast proportions.

The computer, a "memory bank" capable of storing billions of facts and figures, is being prepared for a linkup with nection with the controller's office is scheduled for Sept. 15.

Autopsy For Slain American

VIENNA (AP) — A U.S. Embassy spokesman in Prague said today an autopsy will be performed on the body of Charles H. Jordan of New York City, executive of an American Jewish relief agency whose body was found in the Poltovo River in Prague.

The U.S. spokesman —reached by telephone from Vienna — said Jordan's body was identified by a nephew, Paul Kaplan. Jordan was executive chairman of the American Joint Distribution Committee, which aids needy overseas Jews.

Jordan, 59, his wife and Kaplan arrived in Prague a week ago. Czechoslovak police launched a nationwide search for Jordan when he did not return to his hotel Wednesday night from a short walk to buy a newspaper .

$500,000 Fire To Grain Plant

VISALIA (AP)—Unofficial estimates of damage were set at better than $500,000 today, followed a blaze yesterday that destroyed a Visalia grain processing plant, a furniture warehouse and three railroad freight cars.

The blaze broke out in the Ralston-Purina feed mill.

In less than 10 minutes after the blaze was spotted, the five-story plant was engulfed in flames.

Gleason Taping— Controlled Panic

By ROBERT MUSEL

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (UPI)— As they say in show biz it will probably be all right on the night but there was a moment or two of well controlled panic during the taping Saturday of the first Jackie Gleason hour of the new season. More than halfway through a Honeymooners program Jackie and his production staff discovered they were going to run over the time limit.

They dropped the curtain on the audience jamming the Miami Beach auditorium and quickly worked out a way of cutting four minutes from the final episode.

DELICATE OPERATION

Even with old pros like Art Carney, Sheila MacRae and Jane Kean in the cast this was a delicate operation since it involved tampering with the delivery of the punchline toward which the Honeymooners had been building all evening.

After the audience left th vast hall on Jackie Gleason Drive—the name is not a coincidence—Jackie studied the tape and pronounced the improvisation a success. You can double-check this verdict Sept. 9 on CBS-TV when this episode of the Honeymooners will premiere 30 weeks of Gleason hours (10 Honeymooners, 10 variety, 10 repeats).

JACKIE'S LOYALTY

Jackie claimed the show ran over for the best possible reason (and I quote) "more laughs than we expected from the studio audience." This may well be. Miami Beach is proud of its only resident network star, keenly aware of his value as a tourist attraction and will gladly bruise its palms to keep him there.

For his part Jackie is repaying this loyalty by turning down all offers to appear in films unless they are made here. He said, during the civic and corporate celebrations marking his fourth season in Miami Beach, that Los Angeles was now "impossible due to smog and traffic" and the improving facilities here were bound to attract film and television makers soon.

Gleason has made this prediction before. He ruefully described as "disconcerting" the fact that thus far only animal shows (the Dolphin Flipper and the new Gentle Ben —a bear) have followed his lead but he is not wasting time while waiting for the influx of human luminaries; he is quietly becoming as much a tycoon as a television star.

GOLF PROJECT

In a chatty, good-humored interview Jackie said he now had his own scenery company; in addition he is involved in a project to build a $26 million golf complex and stage the world's richest golf championship for television. He is also "creative consultant" of a new hotel and toured Europe recently searching for new ideas most of which, judging from his early season girth, he must have sought in the kitchen.

He said he had heard rumors that CBS might want him as the host of a nighttime program, presumably opposite Johnny Carson.

"It's only a rumor so far," he said, "but that kind of show—no rehearsals and the network supplying the guests—would certainly be easier to do than my present type of show."

Jackie was asked how he reacts to the adulation he receives here. "Humility," he said, "is not one of my low points." But he added that even he is overwhelmed. The other day 3,500 people paid $4.50 each for lunch to witness what some called "instant coronation." Jackie sat on a prop throne while emissaries of various organizations gave him gifts and paid him homage in extravagant terms.

They even managed to work his catch-phrases, "how sweet it is" and "and away we go" into the divine invocation. Honest to Gleason!

Sedan Causes Wreck; Cycle Riders Hurt

An unidentified green Ford sedan was blamed for spilling three motorcycles on the Petaluma-Point Reyes Road yesterday, causing serious injury to one passenger and minor injuries to one driver.

The accident occurred at 11:05 a.m., when westbound motorcycles driven by Fairfax residents Galen Onizuka, 23, of 2378 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard; Wayne Onizuka, 19, of 37 Woodland Road and Kenneth Reid Blasingame, 19, of 35 Willow Avenue, came up behind the green Falcon. The car changed speeds abruptly, causing a chain-reaction collision, the California Highway Patrol reported.

As Wayne Onizuka's motorcycle hit the rear of Galen Onizuka's motorcycle, the impact caused passenger India Ehchen, 19, of 155 Corte Elena, Greenbrae, to be thrown off the latter vehicle and then run over by Blasingame's motorcycle, according to the patrol.

India Eschen was reported in fair condition today at Marin General Hospital with multiple cuts, scrapes, bruises and a concussion.

Blasingame told patrolmen he would see his own doctor for minor injuries. Wayne Onizuka was examined at the hospital with no apparent injuries reported.

Vandals Proving Pests At Building

Vandals are proving a pest to volunteers of San Rafael Fire Department who are erecting an exhibition building at Gerstle Park.

Fire Capt. John Diego reported to police yesterday a plate glass window was broken and plaster thrown on walls and floor. "The expense is getting out of hand for the volunteers," he said.

Supervisors Due Plan On Point Reyes

County Planning Director Paul C. Zucker is expected to ask the board of supervisors tomorrow to include Point Reyes Peninsula in the interim ordinance controlling development on the West Marin planning area.

The supervisors' meeting will begin at 9 a.m. in the Civic Center.

Zucker's proposal, to be made at 3:15 p.m., is that residential development in limited agricultural zones would not be allowed for 9; days without a use permit.

Affected immediately would be the plans of Richard Chase, a Las Vegas, Nev., contractor, who has received planning commission approval to divide his property for development. Secretary of the Interior Stuart L. Udall has expressed concern because Chase's land is within the proposed eventual bounds of Point Reyes National Seashore.

The supervisors also are slated to discuss plans for deferred financing of capital improvement projects to relieve taxpayer burden, and consider a new social services work training program that would require transfer of $5,122 from reserves.

Romney Says Viet Peace Key Issue

MACKINAC ISLAND, Mich. (AP) — Republican Gov. George Romney says the 1968 presidential candidate with the best chance of election will be the one who can convince voters he can achieve peace in Vietnam "at a reasonably early date."

The people are concerned that the war in Vietnam might last five, 10 or 15 years, Romney told newsmen in a background meeting on Mackinac Island during the weekend. The governor's summer vacation residence is on the island located between Michigan's two peninsulas.

"I think that in 1968 the people will want to have some confidence that whoever is asking them for support can bring peace at a reasonably early date," he said.

Romney is considered an all-but-declared candidate for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

He declined to indicate what he feels would be a reasonable date to bring peace in Vietnam. Romney said he plans to discuss the war "in more specific terms after I go to Vietnam." He has said several times that he hopes to visit Southeast Asia "later this year."

Basie On Mountain A Great Happening

By GARY TISCHLER

What can you say about Count Basie?

You can describe "Basie On The Mountain," a benefit performance for the Southern Marin Boys Club, any way you like. Some people are going to call it a concert. I'll call it a picnic or a happening, at best.

You couldn't beat it unless you were drinking genuine moonshine on a hot summer night. It was a day for Basie lovers, big band lovers, cool jazz lovers, and people watchers.

SHORT SET

It started out with a short set by the Vince Guaraldi Trio, with the man himself hunched over the piano, like some virtuoso mole, a patch of hair making its own particular brand of music.

The trio came over especially well in its own retelling of two Beatle numbers, "Yesterday" and "All the Lovely People."

Part II was the Monty Waters quartet in an uneven but generally musical performance. The trio had to make do with a last-minute substitution at the piano. Last-minuter Sonny Donaldsen could probably be just about anybody's fill-in and feel right at home. Waters on the sax and flute showed tremendous promise and when he and singer John Hendricks got together on "John Colltrane," they jived.

Hendricks was good but Basie singer Richard Boone was something else. Boone could probably sweet-sing into a mousetrap. His voice and tricks can curl your toes, seduce you, jolt you and surprise you.

By the time the Count and his merrymen came on, that little breeze promised by comedian Uncle Jazzbo had arrived. The rock seats had cooled off below squirming level, and the immediate area around the bandstand had become a littered mass of amateur and professional photographers. Little old ladies mingled in with the close-up crowd along with hippies and straights.

And the Count smiled his devil smile at all of them, and commenced to charm and entertain the hell out of everybody. He got to the gal in the bikini on the 20th row, the little old lady standing next to him for a snapshot, the young girl sitting on a rock swaying like some happy bird, the man shooting crazy-angled polaroid shots, the women in high heels or barefoot, the pop-drinkers and the beer-drinkers and the non-drinkers. Even the tiny tot running naked around the edge of the trees near the bandstand. But most of the all the 30-plus crowd who got a big twinge of nostalgia over the big band sound.

HOLDING BREATH

Things really got going when drummer Rufus (Speedy) Jones, a weed-thin jumble of sticks and speed, got into action. Midway through his solo, you started holding your breath.

The only objection, and it's not nit-picking, is that the whole thing was over way too soon. Basie's appearance was too short. And after the last note has drifted away and the last autograph has been signed, it is a pain to have to look at bumpers for an hour.

Passenger Hurt In Tire Blowout

A 15-year-old San Carlos boy suffered a head cut yesterday when a blowout caused his father's car to overturn on Highway 101, one mile south of the Sonoma County Line.

The car, driven by Robert Louis Stein, 39, of San Carlos, San Mateo County, was heading south at 2 p.m. when the left rear tire blew out, the car hit a bank and overturned, the California Highway Patrol reported.

Stein's son, Danny, 15, was treated at Novato General Hospital. Stein and his eife, Lydia, 38, were X-rayed and released with no apparent injuries. Their daugher, Shirley, 14, also a passenger, was unhurt.

New Cigarette Smoking Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cigarette smoking is the subject of new discussion in the Public Health Service and Congress.

The PHS released yesterday a report which it said strengthens the conclusions of the 1964 U.S. surgeon general's report on smoking and health: That cigarette smoking is a major factor in lung cancer and other serious diseases.

The Senate Commerce Committee opens hearings Wednesday on asserted hazards of cigarette smoking and efforts to reduce the dangers.

Witnesses will include Robert L. Struckman, developer of a new filter which he says substantially reduces the amount of tar and nicotine inhaled by the smoker. Columbia University has acquired rights to Strickman's filter.

Registration Set For New Students

Registration for new students to the Novato Unified School District will be from 9:30 a.m. to 3 p.m., Wednesday and Thursday, Paul C. Mobley, assistant superintendent for instruction, said today.

For new students who will attend junior high and high schools, appointments must be made in advance with counsellors.

Novato Nine's World Series Debut Delayed Again

By JIM GILMARTIN
I-J Sports Editor

ANCHORAGE — The Novato-Hamilton All-Stars' long-awaited debut in the 16th annual Babe Ruth World Series has been delayed another day.

Last-minute addition of the flood-troubled Fairbanks team to the lineup created a revision in the schedule with 10 instead of nine teams now ready to shoot for the coveted world title among 14-15-year-olds.

Novato, first team ever to represent Marin County in any world series competition, now won't play its first game until Wednesday at 3:30 p.m. (6:30 PST) against the winner of tonight's New Orleans (10-0 in tournament play, vs. Fairbanks (0-0) game. Tonight's opener matches co-host Anchorage (0-0) and Nashville, Tenn. (11-0).

Tomorrow's schedule: 1:30 p.m. — Wellington, Kan., (9-0) vs. Klamath Falls, Ore., (12-2). 3:30 — Manchester, N.H., (7-1) vs. Levittown, Pa., (10-1). Losers' bracket games will be played tomorrow night.

Wednesday games: 1:30 — Terra Haute, Ind., (13-0) vs. winner of Anchorage-Nashville; 3:30 — Novato (18-2) vs. winner New Orleans-Fairbanks.

Already delayed two days and transferred 400 miles southeast by the disastrous flood in original host city Fairbanks, this classic faces still another threat — more rain. It has been showering intermittently for 10 days and more of same was forecast here today.

"The Board of Directors voted to invite Fairbanks here because those boys have been looking forward to this for a year until the unfortunate flood ruined all plans," said Publicity Director Johnny Nelson.

"When Anchorage invited us here after the flood, we automatically made their boys the host team. Now with Fairbanks, we have co-hosts."

The tournament will continue through Saturday.

Asked if the change in schedule affected his team, Manager Bill Dillon of Novato beamed: "Yes. It actully works to our advantage. We will eb the last team to see action, enabling us to scout all the others.

The confident Novato skipper added: "We have experience on our side, having played twice as many games as some of the others. Also, I feel our competition along the tournament trail has been a lot tougher than most of the other teams have faced. We're planning to win four straight games and bring the world title back to Marin County."

Dillon, 40, sales representative for Imperial Lithoplate, and Coaches Jack Holsclaw and Bob Sisemore have selected Dillon's son, Russ, to start on the mound in Wednesday's opener with either Glenn Holsclaw or Tom Zechlin scheduled to pitch the second game. Russ, the boy with the golden left arm, is ace of the staff with a 7-0 tournament record. Holsclaw is 6-1, Zechlin 4-1 and Steve Francis 1-0.

Should Novato lose its opener, it would return for its second game in the losers' bracket Wednesday night at 8:30 in this double-elimination tournament.

Novato's opener could be a toughie should two-time defending champion New Orleans get past Fairbanks tonight as expected.

Former New York Yankee pitching great Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, principal speaker at a pre-tourney banquet last night, told the writers: "New Orleans is the best-coached boys' baseball team I've ever seen."

Advised of this appraisal, Manager Dillon countered: "Wait until he sees our boys."

Novato reached this tournament by winning tournaments in Santa Rosa, Auburn and El Segundo to represent the Pacific Southwest region including California, Hawaii, Arizona, Nevada and Utah.

It's Really Crowded Today In Anchorage

ANCHORAGE — The 15 relatives of Novato Babe Ruth All-Stars who travelled 2,234 miles to watch their boys in the world series here were shut out of last night's tournament banquet.

"Sorry, but we're all sold out," a banquet official informed the shocked Marinites.

The Marin rooters, who arrived in this largest of Alaskan cities Saturday, were lucky to obtain hotel accommodations—10 miles out of town. Yikes, the cab bills!

Anchorage is bursting at the seams with an estimated 9,000 evacuees from flood-stricken Fairbanks in addition to the heavy tourist trade. Evacuees are staying in hotel ballrooms, private homes, and have flooded all hotels and motels and any place to rest their weary, soggy bones.

It Was Hit By Ruthless Flood

Sodden thought: Fairbanks, original site of this tournament, was hit by a ruthless flood, Babe. After drifting 400 miles, it finally anchored here.

Babe Ruth officials from league headquarters in Trenton, N.J., saw everything in Fairbanks but the kitchen sink. They finally escaped the flood Thursday on an army truck, leaving behind several hundred dollars' worth of trophies, equipment and office items. They had to send to Seattle for baseballs to replenish the supply that was lost in the flood.

The Fairbanks team has 35 per cent fewer cavities because they've been using Crest all week. This is the only baseball tournament in the world where an umpire starts the game by hollering "Mush!" instead of the traditional "Play Ball!" making it the Babe Ruth World Cereal. (Oh, Lord, I'm going to the dogs.)

Music For Young Glovers

All 10 teams are billeted at nearby Elmendorf Air Force Base and Fort Richardson Army Base. The teams have had two teen club dances so far at the bases. I guess they call them the base balls with music for young glovers.

Novato Manager Bill Dillon had pressing duties last night. He borrowed an iron from one of the moms and pressed 15 pairs of slacks so his prides and joys would look sharp at the banquet.

Hello From Ex-Marinites

The World Series games will be played in Mulcahy Park, which is about 500 yards from the 25-unit apartment owned by Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wedekind, former Marin County residents. Wedekind is in the construction and kitchen cabinet business here. They send hearty hellos to their many Marin friends.

Clara (Mrs. Babe) Ruth, here for her late, great husband's memorial classic, told me: "Next to my family, this program in Babe's honor is my first love."

The Marin group here includes Mr. and Mrs. Jack Burnham and daughter Joanne; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Fedrick; Novato High student Craig Keener; Mrs. Bill Dillon and son Craig; Mrs. Bob Sisemore and daughter Susan; Supervisor and Mrs. William Gnoss and their son and daughter-in-law Mr. and Mrs. George Gnoss, and retired Novato businessman Irving Links.

Referee Punched By An Irate Fan

Yesterday, the former California quarterback led the Dallas Cowboys to a 30-24 National Football League exhibition victory over the San Francisco 49ers with a 28-yard touchdown pass to end Pettis Norman with 1:25 remaining.

On Jan. 2, 1965, he threw a 5-yard pass to Cal teammate Jack Schraub to give the West an 11-7 triumph in the Shrine game in his only other appearance in Kezar.

Yesterday's game erupted into a brief fight between 49er Gary Lewis and Cowboy Bob Lilly with two seconds to go and brought every player onto the field, in addition to many of the fans. Cowboy George Andrie suffered a back injury, apparently when jumped on.

Two successive 49er penalties, one wiping out a touchdown, preceded the hostilities. The apparent TD came on a 44-yard pass from John Brodie to flanker Kay McFarland, but a holding penalty brought the ball back.

At game's end, a husky fan hit referee Jim Tunney, who struck back, then ran off the field, escorted by players of both teams.

Dallas led 20-17 at the half, but had to come from behind, 20-24, after 49er quarterback Brodie passed 32 to Lewis for a touchdown.

Dallas QB Don Meredith suffered a bruised rib late in the second quarter and that brought in Morton, who thrilled the crowd of 31,212.

Dallas coach Tom Landry said Morton "did a great job. He never looked better."

Coach Jack Christiansen of the 49ers said, "We went all out to win. We both did. They're Eastern Division champions and didn't want to lose.

"There was a lot of emotion out there," he said, apparently referring to the fight.

Saturday night it's up to Portland, Ore., to face the New Orleans Saints.

Cerrudo Is Man To Beat

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The 65th Western Amateur golf tourney opening here tomorrow includes nine men who have harvested 11 major amateur golf titles in recent years, but the winner might be a young Californian with a long string of near-misses.

The name is Ron Cerrudo, 22, a public relations man at San Rafael who played his college golf at San Jose State. He was runner-up in the British Amateur in June. Last year he was runner-up in the Western at historic Pinehurst, N.C., and missed a three-man title playoff by one stroke in the National Amateur.

Thinking he was out of it, he "carelessed" a one-foot putt on the last hole and missed. Gone was his chance for a National Amateur crown. He also just missed in the Eastern Amateur last year.

Just eight days ago, Cerrudo finished with a 283 in a major pro tourney, at the American Classic at Akron, Ohio. He tied for sixth with 283 yesterday in the Eastern Amateur tourney. Cerrudo has the needed background for the Western, considered one of the finest tests in amateur golf with its 72 holes of medal play and four 18-hole match play rounds. Milburn Country Club's 6,885-yard, par 36-36—72 course will furnish a stiff test.

He's just one in an outstanding field, however. It includes these major champions:

—Hale Irwin, 22, of Colorado, the current NCAA champion, a last-minute entry.

—Marty Fleckman, 23, of Port Arthur, Tex., the 1965 NCAA champion and one of the best in a long line of young golfing greats turned out by Houston's Dave Williams. Fleckman astounded everyone by leading the National Open for three rounds before finishing high amateur at 289.

—Bob Smith, 24, an engaging redhead from Sacramento, who won the 1965 Western, the 1966 Porter Cup and the recent California amateur.

—Bob Murphy, 24, of Nichols, Fla., the 1965 National Amateur and 1966 NCAA champion who was one stroke behind Fleckman in the recent Open.

—George Boutell, 23, Phoenix, Ariz., Trans-Miss champ in 1965 and Western runner-up to Smith the same year.

—Arne Dokka, 23, Studio City, Calif., the 1965 U.S. Public Links champ.

—Jack Lewis, 19, Florence, S.C., Sunnehanna winner in 1966, third in National Amateur and a Western semifinalist last year, and a member of the Walker Cup team this year, along with Fleckman, Murphy and Cerrudo.

—Herb Durham of Dallas, the 1961 Trans-Miss winner.

After all 190 entrants play 18 holes of medal tomorrow and 18 more Wednesday, the top 50 will play 36 Thursday to determine the top 16 for match play, ending with the championship Saturday.

Indian Valley Nine Loses In Finals

Marin County's Indian Valley Joe DiMaggio League champs climaxed a rolling comeback with a heartbreaking 5-1, extra-inning loss to San Francisco Flying Goose in the finals of the first Bay Area Joe DiMaggio Tournament at Albert Field yesterday.

The Marinites, after losing the tourney opener, knocked off three straight foes in the losers bracket and came within a wild throw of forcing a second game yesterday against the undefeated San Francisco entry.

Despite the wringing end of the comeback, Marinites would up with a fat runnerup trophy and had the tourney's most valuable player in slugging shortstop Ken Johnson. Both awards were presented by league namesake Joe DiMaggio.

Johnson slapped a long two-run homer Saturday in Marin's 8-2 win over North Peninsula champs and young Gary Peters

Success Story For Sifford

WETHERSFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Charles Sifford, once a caddie at 35 cents for 18 holes, made $20,000 for a round of golf yesterday as his seven-under-par 64 gave him victory in the $100,000 Greater Hartford Open with a 72-hole score of 272.

Charging past several young professionals who had handled the tournament lead like a hot potato, Sifford put the cap on a 20-year career with a final nine holes of 31 — five-under-par — to edge 25-year-old Steve Oppermann of San Francisco by one stroke.

Many times a second or third-place finisher in official Professional Golf Association tourneys, the 44-year-old Sifford's closest call at winning came in the same tournament in 1958. He missed a three-foot putt at the final green that year to lose to Jack Burke Jr. by one stroke.

On the same 18th green at the par-71 Wethersfield County Club yesterday, Sifford surveyed a four-foot putt to keep himself in first place. With his trademark, a cigar, clenched in his teeth as it is for every stroke, he rammed the putt home.

"My game seemed to improve each week during this year," Sifford said. "I was in the money for 15 straight tournaments and I thought my number was about to come up. But I've been thinking that way for 10 years."

Starting as a caddie at Charlotte, N.C., in 1933, he moved to Philadelphia after World War II service in Okinawa. He remembers driving from Philadelphia to Hartford each year in the late 1940s and early 1950s to play in a tournament where top prize was $125.

Sifford joined the PGA tour in 1954, earning $281.43 that year. His winnings climbed slowly at the rate of about $1,000 a year, but he supplemented that with play in many unofficial tourneys. He won the National Negro Championship six times.

His breakthrough looked just like many, many other tournaments to Sifford until the 14th hole of the final round. The

Davenport, McCovey Got Their Pitches

One way to win baseball games is to look for a certain pitch. At least that's what Jim Davenport and Willie McCovey of the San Francisco Giants do.

Davenport guessed fast ball and got one and the result was a 3-2 win for the Giants over the Cincinnati Reds yesterday at Candlestick Park.

Jimmy's hit came in the ninth inning off Reds relief ace Ted Abernathy.

"I haven't had much luck against Abernathy in the past," Davenport said. "I don't think anyone has. I've tried all kinds of ways against him."

Yesterday, Davenport went to the plate looking for a fast ball and got one on the first pitch. He lined a single to center that scored Tom Haller to end the game.

WILLIE'S THEORY

McCovey had a different theory on hitting.

"Sometimes you get the pitch you're looking for but can't hit it the way you want. Mel Queen threw me a low fast ball in the fourth inning and I couldn't get under it. I grounded out."

When Queen came back with the same pitch in the seventh inning, Willie did get under it. The result was a 400-foot homer over the right field fence that tied the game 2-2.

McCovey, who feels he is a "whipping boy" for certain San Francisco sportswriters, said he hoped they saw the game.

"I was particularly satisfied with today's game," McCovey

Mill Valley Baseballers Win, 21-0!

It's not football, but is was 21-0.

That was the margin by which the Mill Valley Merchants enjoyed a leisurely waxing of the Petaluma Leghorns in a semi-pro baseball game at Mill Valley yesterday.

Ron Laruffa got four hits including his fourth homer in the last seven games.

Leading the rest of the 31-hit parade were Roy Giusti (five hits six rbi), Frank Ubhauss (four hits, four rbi), Greg Tullis (four hits), Fred Mack and Dave Perlis (three hits).

K. C. Team Letter Costs Alvin's Job

BALTIMORE (AP) — Insurance man Charles O. Finley has an unwavering personal policy when it comes to hiring and firing baseball managers. He believes in short-term life.

The owner of the Kansas City Athletics maintained his image yesterday, knocking Alvin Dark right out of his white kangaroo baseball spikes with a sudden dismissal notice.

Veteran coach Luke Appling was named to replace Dark former manager of the San Francisco Giants. But Old Aches-And-Pains will merely be the seventh Finley manager in seven seasons, since the A's owner made it clear Appling will serve on an interim basis.

Dark apparently was on the verge of upsetting Finley's managerial actuary tables when an open feud between the Kansas City players and Finley changed the picture overnight. Instead of signing a new two-year contract, Dark found himself without a job.

The about face came swiftly:

—Finley suspended pitcher Lew Krausse Friday, for what he described as conduct unbecoming a major league player, banned alcoholic drinks from being served on future airplane flights, and said "shenanigans" of a few A's had been deplorable.

CLUB MEETING

At a clubhouse meeting in Washington Saturday, the players unanimously adopted a statement which accused Finley of undermining the team's morale by using informers to spy on the players.

The A's said several players had been subjected to an "unjust amount of pressure" despite having no part in the "so-called incident on a recent plane trip from Boston to Kansas City."

But the explosive portion of the statement said: "We players feel if Mr. Finley would give his fine coaching staff and excellent manager the authority they deserve, these problems would not exist."

—Shown a copy of the statement Saturday night in Washington, Finley said, "This compels me to withhold the announcement of a two-year Dark contract until further consideration."

—An all-night meeting ensued, extending from 7 p.m. Saturday until 4:30 a.m. Sunday. An hour after leaving the meeting, Dark was notified by telephone that he had been fired.

IN ATTENDANCE

With Finley and Dark at the meeting were administrative assistant Ed Lopat, coaches West Stock and Bob Hofman, traveling secretary Ed Hurley and Monte Moore, a member of the A's broadcasting team. Pitcher Jack Aker, the team's player representative, joined the conference at 2:30 a.m.

—The A's met again Sunday after their scheduled game with Washington was postponed by rain, drafting a statement which expressed "a deep personal loss" over the firing and said, "We feel his action is the result of the (players) public statement of Aug. 19."

—Dark bade the team a tearful farewell in the clubhouse, and conceded the statement led to his dismissal. But he added: "I had to back up my players. Everything in their statement was correct."

About 12 hours after the firing, Finley issued a statement saying he took the action because he was convinced Dark "had lost control of his ball players."

TO MOVE

Finley, almost a constant source of controversy, is believed ready to move is team out of Kansas City for the 1968 season. Wherever the A's play, he'll start his eighth season in baseball with his eighth manager.

First baseman Ken Harrelson may be playing elsewhere, too, even if the A's don't move. When he learned of Dark's dismissal, Harrelson said: "It's a shame. He's the finest man I ever played for. Finley made a big mistake. He's a menace to baseball."

Never On Sunday Say Astros, Cubs

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

The long season is becoming a downhill drag for the Houston Astros and Chicago Cubs.

But never on Sunday.

That's the day when Don Wilson is unbeatable in the Astrodome and Ken Holtzman is available to the Cubs.

Wilson, Houston's rookie pitching flash, snapped St. Louis' eight-game winning streak yesterday with a six-hit 2-1 triumph over the National League leaders. It was the fireballing right-hander's fifth start —and fourth straight victory—in the Astros' nine Sunday home games this season.

Holtzman, Chicago's unbeaten second-year southpaw, made the most of his second weekend pass from the Army and beat Philadelphia 6-1, completing a three-game series sweep for the struggling Cubs. A week ago, Holtzman tamed the Phillies 6-2 in his first appearance since May 20.

Elsewhere, Pittsburgh topped the New York Mets 4-2; San Francisco shaded Cincinnati 3-2 and Los Angeles whipped Atlanta 6-1.

AMERICAN LEAGUE

In the American League, the New York Yankees trimmed Minnesota 7-3; the Chicago White Sox swept Baltimore 4-2 and 2-1; Boston jolted California twice 12-2 and 9-8 and Detroit took a pair from Cleveland 4-2 and 4-0. The Kansas City-Washington game was rained out.

Wilson, bringing his season mark to 9-8, blanked the Cardinals on four hits until the eighth inning, then worked out of a serious jam before nailing the victory, which lifted the Astros past New York into ninth place. They had dropped 15 of their previous 17 games this month.

Bob Aspromonte stroked a run-scoring double in the second inning and continued around the bases on a pair of throwing errors, giving Wilson the margin of victory over St. Louis' Larry Jaster. Wilson hit pinch hitter Bob Tolan on an 0-2 pitch with the bases loaded in the eighth, forcing across the Cards' run, then checked the rally.

Wilson lost his first Sunday start in Houston on April 23 to Cincinnati. On June 18, he spun the NL's lone 1967 no-hitter, throttling Atlanta 2-0 in the Astrodome. He beat the Cubs 6-0 and the Mets 9-1 in his other two Sunday decisions at home.

Holtzman, backed by Ernie Banks' three-run homer, checked the Phils on five hits before giving way to reliever Bill Stoneman in the ninth. The Chicago ace, now 7-0, worked only 5 1-3 innings in last Sunday's victory over Philadelphia.

It was only the ninth victory for the Cubs in 23 August starts.

Banks delivered a run in the first inning and unloaded his 20th homer following singles by Billy Williams and Ron Santo in the fourth. Rich Allen's 21st homer ended Holtzman's shutout bid in the seventh.

STRETCH STREAK

The Pirates stretched their winning string to four games—longest for the club since the first week in May—as Bill Mazeroski drilled a tie-breaking single in the sixth inning and Manny Mota knocked in an insurance run with a sacrifice fly in the seventh.

Donn Clendenon hit a two-run homer for the Pirates and reliever Juan Pizarro stopped the Mets over the last three innings. They had tied the score in the sixth on Bob Johnson's triple, singles by Ed Kranepool, Larry Stahl and Jerry Buchek and a sacrifice fly by Ed Charles.

Don Sutton, another Army reservist on weekened leave, scattered nine hits as the Dodgers won their third in a row from Atlanta. A five-run flurry in the sixth inning, with Al Ferrara's two-run single the big blow, enabled Sutton to breeze to his ninth victory against 12 setbacks.

Raiders Have Week To Mull Over Loss

The Oakland Raiders, humiliated by a 48-0 drubbing by the Kansas City Chiefs, have a week to mull over their crimes before they face Denver next Sunday at North Platte, Neb.

Pleading no contest in the Portland massacre Saturday night, Raider coach John Rauch said manfully:

"Kansas City is much stronger. We had busted plays and our receivers dropped the ball...they had a swell running back...it was a case of when one club gets momentum, it goes..."

In other words, the only worse thing that could have happened to his boys would be everybody coming down with double pneumonia.

Fact is, it was the Raiders' second worst defeat on record. They got belted 55-0 by Houston in 1961.

The AFL champions scored two touchdowns in the opening nine minutes of play, moved out 28-0 at the half, and added 10 more in each of the final periods.

Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica really called the shot when he said of the disaster: "If Kansas City gets the early jump on you and gets an early lead, they can stomp you to death."

True, true.

But Sifford sank a 25-yard wedge shot on the 14th to get an eagle 3 and a tie for the lead. They stayed tied until the par-3 17th, a problem hole for Sifford in the three earlier rounds. But he put his tee shot on the green 215 yards away and made a decisive par. Oppermann came along minutes later and missed the green, carding a bogey.

Oppermann's best finish in four years as a pro earned $12,000. Sifford's first prize of $20,000 nearly doubled his 1967 winnings to a total of $45,280.

Of the four-foot putt which made it possible, Sifford said: "I didn't even think about how long it was, I was just trying to get it in the hole."

Third place and $5,150 each at Wethersfield was a four-way tie at 274 involving Gary Player of South Africa, Dan Sikes Jr., Doug Ford and Ray Floyd—all two strokes back of Sifford. Floyd had 68 yesterday. Player a 69 and Ford and Sikes each scored 70.

Third-round leader Terry Dill skidded to 72 and a 275 total and $3,100. Also at 275 were Australian Kel Nagle and Frank Beard. Beard established a PGA record for steady play when he went the entire 72 holes without a bogey, beating the old mark of 57 holes set by Doug Sanders at the recent Western Open.

said. In addition to the homer, he drove in another run with a double and made three fine plays in the field.

McCovey shrugged and said he didn't think the performance would silence his critics. "I've had good days before, and they still get on me," he said.

Gaylord Perry was the winning pitcher and looked once again like he did in 1966 when he won 21 games for San Francisco. It was his 10th victory this season.

The win moved the Giants into fourth place, a half-game behind the Reds and Chicago Cubs who are in a virtual tie for the National League's second place.

Juan Marichal was scheduled to pitch the final game against the Reds today, but asked for more time to rest a muscle injury he suffered three weeks ago.

Marin Nine Is Second In Tourney

hurled a seven-hitter and contibuted two hits.

Marin then ousted Fremont, 9-2, as Rich Denning went three-for-three and drove in two runs with a double, a triple and a single.

Mike Terry allowed just two hits, chipped in with a hit, and drove in a run in his own cause.

Don Mantooth started for Marin in the championship game but didn't get past the second inning when San Francisco loaded the bases on a hit batter, a single and a walk with no ous. Peters came in to strike out Al Dworkin, then got the next two batters on a fly ball and a ground out.

Marin had taken a 1-0 lead in the first inning on a walk to Johnson and a run-scoring triple by Denning.

The run that averted a 1-0 Marin victory came in the third when Larry Bourke tripled and scored on a wild overthrow to the infield.

Marin had the bases loaded with nobody out in the third inning but couldn't score as one run was cut off at the plate and the next two batters struck out on a strong dose of George Blankenship's pitching.

The roof fell in in the eighth inning. Ken Batiflord doubled, Bill Curran was safe on a fielder's choice, Dave Kline singled in a run, a double play that didn't come off let in another run and John Maxwell's two-run single wrapped it up.

Patriot Coach Didn't Want To Run Up Score, Just Win

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

They can't accuse Mike Holovak of running up the score.

On the threshold of one of their rare exhibition victories, Holovak's Boston Patriots avoided the temptation of that extra touchdown and contented themselves with a 13-10 American Football League squeaker over Buffalo yesterday.

After the frustrations Holovak's Patriots have endured for six preseason campaigns, he could have been forgiven for going after the extra TD. The Pats had managed just three exhibition victories under Holovak until yesterday.

But with only moments left to play and Boston threatening after Jay Cunningham's 47-yard punt return, Holovak had quarterback John Huarte run out the clock.

He could afford the gracious move because of Gino Cappelletti's educated toe. Cappelletti booted a 33-yard field goal with less than three minutes remaining, breaking a 10-10 tie.

In yesterday's other exhibition football, the National League's Detroit Lions spoiled the opening of San Diego's new $28 million stadium by ripping the AFL Chargers, 38-17, and Dallas topped San Francisco 30-24.

In Saturday's inter-league action, Philadelphia of the NFL trimmed the AFL's New York Jets 34-19, and the NFL Atlanta Falcons downed Miami of the AFL 27-17.

In intra-league play, New Orleans' fledgling NFL club topped Pittsburgh 20-17, Washington pounded the New York Giants 31-13, Los Angeles took Cleveland 24-17 and Kansas City walloped Oakland 48-0.

The Patriots' victory was only their second on the last 23 preseason games for Boston. The club was 7-2 in pre-season games under their first coach, Lou Saban, but things have been tougher since Holovak took over in 1962.

Boston's touchdown came when a pair of rookies, Ed Philpott of Miami of Ohio and Mel Witt of Arlington State, combined to turn a Buffalo punt into a Patriot score. Philpott blocked Paul McGuire's punt at the five and Witt grabbed the ball and went into the end zone with it.

Karl Sweetan piloted Detroit to a 24-point second period and that was enough to whip the Chargers.

Swimming Champ's Coach Happier Than His Pupil

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The coach was more elated than the pupil yesterday when Debbie Meyer, the blonde streaks in her hair just visible above the water, became the first distaff swimmer ever to break the 18 minute barrier in the 1,500-meter freestyle.

Coach Sherman Chavoor looked down at his 111-pound protege and exclaimed, "fantastic."

Miss Meyer, who turned 15 a week ago, looked up at the beaming coach and com ed."

It was a study in contrasting moods, but it didn't surprise Chavoor, a 57-year-old former science teacher who took to coaching swimmers as a hobby.

"Desire and hard work have turned this girl into a great swimmer. She thrives on the impossible."

Miss Meyer churned through the 50-meter Olympic size Kelly pool in 17:50.2 in the highlight of the annual four-day women's outdoor National AAU Swimming and Diving Championships. She shattered the existing world record of 18:12.9, set in 1966 by Patty Caretto, the defending champion from Los Angeles A.C., and topped her own pending mark of 18:11.1, set July

Larkspur Hillside To Sprout New, Million-Dollar Apartment

A new $1 million apartment house project is getting under way in Larkspur by Pell Development Co. that built the Woodlark Apartments about five years ago.

This one will probably be called L'Escalle Apartments, since it is located on Escalle Avenue at Magnolia, almost adjoining the Woodlark and near the historic old Escalle winery. Joseph Pell has about six acres here.

Planned are 80 units, mostly one and two-bedroom apartments and some threes, with decks, patios and shade trees -- after the fashion of the Woodlark, with perhaps a more modern touch of the times. There are about six acres of grounds here and eventually the area is expected to be built up clear to the top of the hill.

Living units will be in three buildings separated by archways, but with connecting passages — the whole laid out more or less in a circular design. Construction will take about six months.

NOW ESTABLISHED at her new Swedish massage quarters in the Essex Buildings on the San Anselmo Miracle Mile is Mrs. Gunvor Beandor. Her Beander Salon gives massages, facials, electric spot reducing and shaping. Quarters also have steam tubs and showers.

She was located for six years at the rear of the House of Kwan Yin, 2130 Fourth Street, San Rafael. European-trained in Paris and Switzerland, she lives in Fairfax. Salon hours are from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesdays through Saturdays.

PAUL REITER of Mill Valley has joined the architectural, engineering and planning firm of Wilsey and Ham at Foster City as senior architect and associate. Recently he has been a member of Corwin Booth and Associated Architects. Previously he practiced as a partner with Mario J. Ciampi. He has been involved in many school, college and university projects, recreation centers and industrial and commercial complexes. He and his family will continue to live in Mill Valley.

Reiter Sutherland

DON C. SUTHERLAND of Corte Madera has joined First California Co. of San Francisco as a registered stock broker representative and will operate in Marin County. He was previously with Bank of America and managed the Corte Madera branch for four years. Earlier he had worked for the bank in Placerville. He was the founder and first president of the Corte Madera Chamber of Commerce.

SAN RAFAEL building designer Edward Hageman has been elected vice president of the American Institute of Building Design. His firm, Hageman-Thomas-Eklund, Inc., took the First of Show award and two other prizes in the recent competition at the San Francisco convention of the institute.

Hageman Flaherty

ROGER M. FLAHERTY of Novato has received the highest annual award of Campbell Soup Co. for over-all outstanding sales performance throughout the entire year, during the company's recent marketing meeting in Chicago.

ROBERT L. BEAN of San Rafael has been elected a member of the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants. He is associated with the San Francisco office of the accounting firm, Touche, Ross Bailey and Smart.

TWO SAN RAFAEL WOMEN, Mrs. E. K. Larson and Mrs. Bernie Pratz, won prizes in a recent Hotpoint "Frostword" puzzle contest. Entries were submitted through Rafael Appliance Co.

DE LONG CHEVROLET, San Rafael, was a big winner in a Chevrolet Motor Co. May and June sales campaign, selling more new and used cars than in any like period in its 18 year history. Five company salesmen earned a zone payoff party at Hoberg's while Clarence De Long, sales manager John J. Zimmer and used car manager Ralph Stangland won five-day trips with their wives in Bermuda.

MAP MAKING MADE EASIER

Map makers formerly toiled for weeks reducing aerial photos to scale maps. But now, such maps can be plotted in a matter of hours, through this electromagnetic, computer-coupled system designed by Carl Zeiss instrument firm of West Germany. The machine was demonstrated at the recent industrial fair in Hanover. (German Features photo)

Market Shuts Lower After Active Trading

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market closed sharply lower today. Trading was active.

The New York Stock Exchange resumed full, 5½-hour sessions after nearly two weeks of shortened, 4-hour days to allow brokerage houses to catch up with paper work.

Weakness in blue chips depressed the average even in the morning when gains had a big advantage over losses in the over-all list.

Losers outnumbered gainers by about 3 to 2, reversing an early advantage for the plus side.

It was the first of the normal 5½-hour sessions after almost two weeks of 4-hour days, shortened to allow brokerage houses to catch up with paper work.

Down about 3 points were Du Pont, Xerox and U.S. Smelting.

Losses of a point or so were taken by Lorillard, Eastman Kodak, Boeing and Parke Davis.

Allis-Chalmers recovered from its slide of late last week when the proposed merger with Ling-Tenco-Vought was called off. It rose about 2 points as it paced the list on volume.

Down about a point were Goodrich, Kennecott, Eastern Air Lines and United Aircraft.

Prices were scrambled on the American Stock Exchange.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

'Marriage' To One Stock Can Become Costly Error

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. "I have been 'married' to a blue chip which has done little in recent years. Hess Oil and Chemical has acted well during this period and I wonder if you would recommend selling some of our blue chip stock to buy Hess Oil?" P. C.

A. Getting married to a stock is one of the most common of all investment faults. Admitting your mistake and planning to do something about it is most unusual and deserves my warmest commendation. You apparently hold a fading blue chip and you have probably held it long enough.

Hess Oil and Chemical is a refiner and marketer in the southeast and along the east coast. It specializes in low-sulphur crude which is in considerable demand in areas of highly polluted air such as New York City. The company owns a 10 per cent interest in Amerada which I consider a candidate for a takeover. Any such development should return a big profit to Hess on its investment and a merger between the two companies themselves is not inconceivable. Earnings are in a strong uptrend which seems likely to continue. I advise you to make the switch.

Q. "Dad is 71 and still working. He has $20,000 in AT&T; Northern Illinois Gas; Commonwealth Edison; Marshall Field. He has another $10,000 in T. Rowe Price Growth Fund on a systematic withdrawal plan. In the last two years the Fund has been in every way better for him. He is considering selling some stocks and adding to the Fund. What do you suggest?" H. W.

A. Your dad has a fine list of common stocks which I would not normally like to disturb. For particular reasons applicable to each, there has been little price progress over the past two years, though the long-term outlook is very favorable. If more income is required, I believe he might well build up his withdrawal plan but you should remember that such a plan may restrict future growth in capital.
